Adenauer Says Shift Will Not Change Policy

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer declared Wednesday night West Germany's unbending policy toward negotiations with the Soviet Union will not be changed "one iota" after he retires as chancellor. He made it clear that he has no intention of becoming a figurehead president.

The 83-year-old leader spoke to a nationwide audience on his decision to drop out as chancellor and campaign for the less powerful post of president. Then he left for a month's vacation in Italy.

He shed little light on the reasons for his decision Tuesday. But he declared "with fullest emphasis" that the powers of president "are far greater than is generally believed." He explained that his decision "was designed to secure the continuity of our policies for years to come."

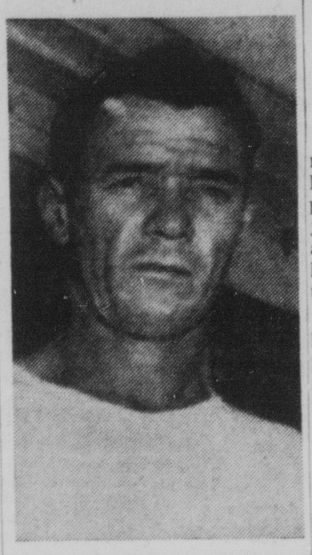

Then he declared that West Germany's foreign policies will not be changed during the forthcoming East-West conferences on Berlin and Germany this spring and summer, nor after the new chancellor takes over.

The powers of the West German president are limited by the constitution, and the office has been largely one of prestige and ceremony. The news that Adenauer was shifting to the presidency caused a loud buzz around the world that West German policy was going to take on a new look.

In his speech, Adenauer hewed to the tough line.

"No German government can renounce the rights of the repressed portion of the German nation to decide their political fate freely through self-determination," he declared.

"No German government can accept a confederation plan 'of the two German states' which aims not only at isolating the Federal Republic (West Germany) from without and the destruction of its free society internally, but also removes any chances for the re-establishment of German unity in freedom."

Tibetan Rebel Regime Hinted

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Frontier reports said Wednesday the Dalai Lama's followers have proclaimed a provisional government inside Tibet to fight for independence from Communist China.

Peiping radio confirmed that resistance continues in the land of the Lamas by reporting a speech of the 21-year-old Panchen Lama who has been elevated by the Red Chinese to the Dalai Lama's place as head of the government in Lhasa.

The Panchen Lama was quoted as saying that "reactionary elements are still active — setting fires, killing, pilfering, raping and terrorizing patriotic progressive people."

The Dalai Lama, a fugitive in India after a perilous three-week overland trek from his capital, was reported en route to the mountain town of Bomdila, 62 miles from the monastery village of Towang where he has been staying since reaching India last week.

Ike Calls Huddle On Selection Of GOP Chief

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower golfed again Wednesday. He also arranged a Friday conference here on selection of a new Republican national chairman.

Present indications are the key party post will go to Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky.

On this second day of Eisenhower's stay at the Augusta National Golf Club, the weather continued ideal—temperature in the high 80s and the sun brilliant.

During the morning the President worked on government business for a while in his temporary office above the pro shop. Later, he got out for another 18 holes of golf.

In advance of the round, press secretary James C. Hagerty announced Eisenhower will hold a luncheon meeting at the club Friday with a group of GOP National Committee members seeking his views regarding a successor to Meade Alcorn as party chairman.

Alcorn announced last week he is resigning to return to law practice in Connecticut. The national committee is meeting in Washington Friday and Saturday to pick a new chairman and a site for the party's 1960 presidential nominating convention.

Although the committee in Washington will formally announce the chairmanship assignment by the week's end, the matter will be settled at Eisenhower's luncheon here with the selection delegation being named by Alcorn.

Death Of Clerk Sets Off Dispute Over Patronage

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The murder trial of Connie Nicholas bogged down indefinitely in petty party politics Wednesday just as the double divorcee was about to tell how Forrest Teel, her lover of 15 years, was shot to death.

The death of a county clerk halted the trial and struggle over patronage turned the brief interruption into a delay with no end in sight.

The hitch dismayed Judge Thomas J. Faulconer, Mrs. Nicholas, and attorneys for both sides.

Gov. Harold W. Handley promptly tried to break the log-jam by appointing a new clerk. But Marion County commissioners served notice that they did not like the appointment. The commissioners disputed the governor's power to name a successor.

Hanging On Every Word

Judge Faulconer, who recessed the trial for 24 hours because of the clerk's death, said Wednesday night he didn't know whether he could go ahead or not.

Mrs. Nicholas had the jury hanging on her every word Tuesday as she reached the point where she was to describe pulling out a tiny gun as she sat with the Eli Lilly Co. vice-president in the front seat of his white Cadillac.

The tiny divorcee was tense, puzzled and unhappy over the delay.

"I suppose there is nothing to be done about it," she said. "But I would like to have gone right ahead. It's been an ordeal."

She had spent two hours in the courtroom, waiting to tell her story of sudden death, before Faulconer called off the trial for the day.

Only 15 Minutes Warning

Defense attorneys, fearful that the tension would exhaust their client before she gave her all-important testimony, had allowed Mrs. Nicholas only 15 minutes warning before sending her to the witness chair Tuesday.

Now, she will have had at least two nights and a day of rest before returning to the lonely seat. But she did not appear to welcome it.

GOP Convention Site Committee Runs Into Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — A site committee hit a snag Wednesday in considering a city for the 1960 Republican national convention and put off a decision until Saturday.

Although Chicago was reported still leading four other cities for the convention, the site committee chairman—Ray C. Bliss of Ohio—said certain checks had to be made as to fringe benefits in Chicago and other cities before a final recommendation.

Bliss said some of the items to be checked are whether the national committee or the city will pay for hotel facilities for party headquarters, whether a hall is to be provided rent free to the committee and whether special bus service would be provided to the convention hall.

Hangover-Free Whiskies Foreseen By Researcher

BOSTON (AP)—Whiskies free from hangovers.

An "instant whisky," and other synthetic drinks, cheaper to make, but equal to the best whiskies, gins, rums, and vodkas.

A chemist sees these possibilities from new research into the chemicals that give whiskies and other drinks flavors and aromas—and hangover threats.

Of special moment for partisans of scotch, Dr. Robert Carroll finds most scotches contain less of certain chemicals which could be involved in producing hangovers than do other whiskies.

As "cleanest" in freedom from these chemicals, Dr. Carroll listed first vodka, then gin, scotch, bourbon and rye.

Dr. Carroll, a chemical consultant of Greenwich, Conn., and Lawrence C. O'Brien of Perkin-Elmer Corp., Norwalk, Conn., described the research Wednesday to the American Chemical Society.

They used a special instrument which can measure the tiny amounts of different volatile chemicals which distinguish various alcoholic beverages.

Each type of beverage—vodkas and gins compared with rums, scotches and bourbons—shows major differences in their content of esters, fusel oil, and acetaldehyde, Dr. Carroll said.

Most scotches have less of these minor components.

When more is learned, it might be possible to make hangover-free whiskies and other beverages, he added.

Md. Officers Fire 27 Shots At Motorboat

Dredging Charges Denied In Sharply Conflicting Reports

COLONIAL BEACH, Va. (AP)—A Virginia waterman was killed and another was wounded Wednesday when Maryland officers fired a 27-shot barrage at their speeding motorboat.

The shooting rekindled flames in an age-old oyster war which erupts periodically on the Potomac River separating the two states.

Sharply conflicting reports came from the Virginians involved and officers of Maryland's Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

John F. Griffith, 39, lone Virginian on the three-man crew to escape injury, claimed the Maryland boat intercepted them for no legitimate reason shortly after daybreak.

"That's when they blazed away. They never tried to halt us or anything. It sounded like gangs of shots," Griffith said.

Dredging Charge Denied

The three Maryland inspectors who fired the shots said they were trying to stop the boat from getting back to Virginia water after it had been observed pirating oysters by dredge off the Maryland shore.

Dredging is permitted in Virginia waters but prohibited in the Maryland-owned Potomac. Griffith denied the Virginians were dredging (gouging oysters from the river bottom by trailing a scoop).

The Marylanders said they fired six warning shots at the speeding boat as it approached them and 21 more at the motors as it passed within a few feet and continued toward Colonial Beach.

Father Of Three Slain

The dead man was identified as Berkeley Muse, 31, of Oak Grove, Va., a father of three children. Wounded in the leg was Harvey King, 30-year-old skipper of the boat and central figure in a bullet-punctured chase near here two years ago.

Edward S. Digges, assistant attorney general representing the TFC, identified the Maryland inspectors as Capt. Roger Bussler of Leonardtown, Harvey Cook of Cambridge and Barnes L. Braun of Annapolis.

He said State's Atty. George W. Bowling of Charles County, Md., and other officials are investigating the shooting.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes of Maryland said he hoped the shooting would not jeopardize chances of Virginia concurrence in Maryland amendments to a proposed new Potomac River compact.

There was no immediate comment from Gov. J. Lindsay Almond of Virginia, who was notified of the incident by telephone.

Passport To Be Granted Hiss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Wednesday it has decided to grant a passport for a European trip to Alger Hiss, one-time high department official convicted of perjury in the famous "pumpkin papers" Communist spy case.

Department spokesman Lincoln White told newsmen that Hiss had applied for a passport for travel in England, France, Holland and possibly other Western European countries.

"We have decided to grant the passport," White said.

Hiss, who rose to high rank during 11 years in the department, was convicted of perjury in 1950 for denying to a grand jury that he ever slipped secret information to Whittaker Chambers, confessed courier for a pre-World War II Communist spy ring.

Chambers gave the bizarre case its name by hiding the evidence that convicted Hiss in a scooped-out pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Hiss later served almost four years in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary. He was released in 1954. He has steadfastly maintained he was innocent of any crime.

Jukebox Local Leader Linked To Underworld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit jukebox operators surrendered to the underworld when William Bufalino, a sidekick of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, took control of the Teamsters jukebox local, Senate investigators were told Wednesday.

Witnesses testified that Bufalino had stepped into leadership of Local 985 from a jukebox distributor partnership with an alleged Mafia narcotics trafficker.

Before the hearing, Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Labor-Management Committee renewed an invitation to Hoffa to appear in reply to any testimony reflecting on him. But Hoffa, who was accused Tuesday of sharing in a payoff in a Detroit jukebox war, made no immediate move to accept the invitation. He is on the committee's list for questioning later, probably in June.

Morris Goldman, a former president of the Michigan Automatic Phonograph Owners Assn. in Detroit, said he and other operators had been told in 1947 they could "find harmony in our industry" by agreeing to Bufalino's becoming an assistant to Eugene (Jimmy) James, then president of Local 985.

Goldman said he and his fellow operators had to agree to this and that later Bufalino became top man in the local.

Under prodding, Goldman said he had understood Bufalino "was to represent the Italian crowd."

Kennedy then wanted to know whether Goldman meant underworld figures.

"The ones associated with Bilvin," Goldman said. He referred to the Bilvin Distributing Co., a jukebox distributorship.

Committee investigator Walter R. May previously had testified that articles of incorporation showed Bufalino had been a partner in the Bilvin company with John (Poppa John) Priziola and Sam J. Tocco.

Charles Siragusa, a crack federal narcotics agent, described Priziola as a leader in the Mafia, a secret criminal society with roots in Italy.

"Superman" Faints

WEST LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor George Reeves, who plays "Superman" on television, fainted like a normal human being Wednesday after his sports car skidded into an embankment on Benedict Canyon Drive.

Reeves, 45, suffered a five-inch gash on his forehead in the crash. Residents of the area called for help and as police were questioning Reeves he collapsed, apparently from shock.

He was taken to Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

P. O. Dept. Rules Famous Goya Nude Obscene

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department has decided that Francisco Goya's famous 155-year old nude painting, "The Naked Maja," is obscene.

It ruled that United Artists could not send through the mail colored postcards promoting a movie of the same name on one side. The other side features Goya's plump likeness of the reclining Duchess of Alba, clad only in an enigmatic smile.

The department was unmoved by arguments that the original 1804 portrait hangs in Madrid's world-renowned Prado Museum and that the painting has been reproduced on stamps, no less, by Spanish postal authorities.

Bomb Ruled Out In Home Blast

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — Gas probably caused the explosion which wrecked the first floor of the home of the first Negro family to move into suburban Collins Park, state police said Wednesday.

Capt. John F. Herbert said investigations by police and the FBI ruled out a bomb as the cause of the blast in the $12,000 home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rayfield.

The brunt of the explosion was borne by a section of the kitchen occupied by a gas stove, which was demolished.

An explosives expert from the FBI laboratories in Washington examined the wrecked dwelling.

Herbert said afterward that "the possibility of a high-velocity explosive agent or bomb has been definitely eliminated."

Neither the Rayfields nor their teen-age daughter was at home at the time of the blast Tuesday night.

State police will continue the investigation.

Missile's Cone Retrieved After 5,000-Mile Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —A 5,000-mile test of a new warhead protector design ended successfully in the South Atlantic Wednesday with the first recovery of a nose cone hurled intercontinental distance.

The slim little cone, made of reinforced ceramic, was retrieved from the ocean near Ascension Island, midway between Brazil and Africa. The Air Force had been trying for a year to recover experimental cones after such long-range flights.

If three similar tests last summer had been successful, doctors would have been able to examine white mice which rode in the cones of earlier Thor-Able rockets in bio-medical experiments.

Officials said there was no living creature in Wednesday's cone, shaped like the neck and shoulders of a bottle. The primary aim in retrieving the cone was to enable missile men to make a first-hand check of how the cone fared in flight.

The purpose of the test series is to develop better materials to protect hydrogen warheads which intercontinental ballistic missiles would carry. The results of the Thor-Able series are expected to be applied to both the Titan and the Minuteman ICBMs.

The cone, presumably glowing fiery red with re-entry heat, was spotted by a search force as it plunged earthward minutes after the Douglas-made rocket blasted off from the cape at 1:35 a.m. e.s.t.

Upon contact with the atmosphere, the cone ejected a parachute to slow its fall and a flotation bag about the size of a medicine ball inflated automatically.

At 3:35 a.m. e.s.t., one aircraft sighted the dye marker released from the nose cone recovery package and guided the ships to that point, the Pentagon said.

Shooting Of Swiss Guard Leader Shocks Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The commander of the Swiss Guard, the Pope's personal military corps, was shot and wounded by a disgruntled former guardsman Wednesday in a struggle just outside the papal palace. Vatican officials were so shocked that at first they refused to discuss the shooting.

Col. Robert Nunlist, 48, guard commander, was wounded twice but not seriously. One bullet grazed his neck. The other struck him in the back.

The former guardsman, Adolf Rucker, 34, was wounded slightly in the face. It was not clear whether he deliberately shot himself or his gun went off accidentally in his fight with the colonel.

Such an incident never occurred before in the 4½-century history of the colorful guards who still wear medieval orange and purple striped uniforms with glittering headpieces and breastplates designed by Michelangelo.

A Vatican communique said "an ex-Swiss Guard fired two pistol shots at the commander of the corps, wounding him but not seriously."

It added that the ex-guard, Rucker, "had insisted on being re-enlisted into service after having been expelled last year because of epileptic symptoms caused by cranial trauma—brain injury."

Both men were taken to a Rome hospital, where an operation was performed to remove the bullet from Nunlist's back.

An investigation of the shooting was being made by Vatican police.

The Swiss Guard, which totals 83 men, is recruited entirely in Switzerland. It was organized in 1506 by Pope Julius II.

Ike Criticized At Big Labor Mass Meeting

Resolution Urges Congress Not Wait For Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 5,000 delegates wound up an AFL-CIO jobless rally Wednesday with a demand that the Democratic Congress begin immediate consideration of measures to restore full employment to America.

The throng jamming the National Guard Armory passed a resolution saying Congress should "wait no longer for administration leadership" in putting over measures to aid idle workers and spur the over-all economy.

A series of speakers criticized President Eisenhower on grounds he is complacent in the face of unemployment numbering 4,362,000.

There were allusions to Eisenhower's golf playing.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said he was afraid Eisenhower had become insulated by "comfortable bureaucrats and rich millionaires who play golf and bridge with him and let him shoot pheasants on their estates, a captive of hard-faced men who know exactly what they want."

One of the adopted resolutions called on Eisenhower to re-evaluate the nation's domestic situation.

Johnson Moves For Study

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told the cheering delegates he had just introduced legislation to create a commission to study the gravity of the unemployment problem and the actual need for more highway, housing, airport and other public works measures to buoy the economy.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO which sponsored the rally, accused the administration of "do nothing" policies and sounded a keynote for other speakers in maintaining that recent improvements still leave unemployment a serious national problem.

Meany said that despite what he called administration ballyhoo in announcing March job gains, the country still is left with 4,362,000 workers unable to find paying jobs to feed their families. The government announced Tuesday a drop of 400,000 in the number of unemployed.

Mitchell Well Received

Eisenhower's secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, nevertheless was well received by the throng assembled from 15 major East and Midwest labor areas.

Mitchell predicted employment will jump from 64 million now to 67 million by October, with idleness declining by over one million to three million or below.

Both Meany and Walter Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, described Mitchell as a personal friend. But Reuther took the bloom off the compliment.

"We like Jim Mitchell," he said. "But the unemployed can't stand on pious platitudes and promises. The tragedy is that Eisenhower administration policies are not formulated by Jim Mitchell but by Mr. George Humphrey on quail hunts in Georgia."

Soviet Travel Ban Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow's famed Bolshoi Ballet may dance in San Francisco, after all.

The State Department so ruled Wednesday. It also called off a week-old embargo on travel by Soviet diplomats in the United States. It noted that the Soviets have lifted their temporary clampdown against tours by U.S. officials in the U.S.S.R.

Press officer Lincoln White challenged the Kremlin to go all the way, or at least part way, toward lifting the separate curtain that continues to hide one-third of the Soviet Union from foreign visitors.

U.S. officials figured the temporary Soviet crackdown on official travelers was similar to one imposed last year during spring military maneuvers.

The United States has a tit-for-tat policy on travel restrictions. The Soviets don't seem much worried about the U.S. retaliation, but American officials have a different problem. In particular, in this case, these officials have been hearing from people who want to see the ballet performed by the world-renowned Bolshoi troupe.

The Bolshoi dancers are slated to arrive in New York toward the end of this week for an April 16 opening.

Department spokesman Lincoln White told newsmen that Hiss had applied for a passport for travel in England, France, Holland and possibly other Western European countries.

"We have decided to grant the passport," White said.

Hiss, who rose to high rank during 11 years in the department, was convicted of perjury in 1950 for denying to a grand jury that he ever slipped secret information to Whittaker Chambers, confessed courier for a pre-World War II Communist spy ring.

Chambers gave the bizarre case its name by hiding the evidence that convicted Hiss in a scooped-out pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Hiss later served almost four years in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary. He was released in 1954. He has steadfastly maintained he was innocent of any crime.

Jukebox Local Leader Linked To Underworld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit jukebox operators surrendered to the underworld when William Bufalino, a sidekick of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, took control of the Teamsters jukebox local, Senate investigators were told Wednesday.

Witnesses testified that Bufalino had stepped into leadership of Local 985 from a jukebox distributor partnership with an alleged Mafia narcotics trafficker.

Before the hearing, Counsel Robert F. Kennedy of the Senate Labor-Management Committee renewed an invitation to Hoffa to appear in reply to any testimony reflecting on him. But Hoffa, who was accused Tuesday of sharing in a payoff in a Detroit jukebox war, made no immediate move to accept the invitation. He is on the committee's list for questioning later, probably in June.

Morris Goldman, a former president of the Michigan Automatic Phonograph Owners Assn. in Detroit, said he and other operators had been told in 1947 they could "find harmony in our industry" by agreeing to Bufalino's becoming an assistant to Eugene (Jimmy) James, then president of Local 985.

Goldman said he and his fellow operators had to agree to this and that later Bufalino became top man in the local.

Under prodding, Goldman said he had understood Bufalino "was to represent the Italian crowd."

Kennedy then wanted to know whether Goldman meant underworld figures.

"The ones associated with Bilvin," Goldman said. He referred to the Bilvin Distributing Co., a jukebox distributorship.

Committee investigator Walter R. May previously had testified that articles of incorporation showed Bufalino had been a partner in the Bilvin company with John (Poppa John) Priziola and Sam J. Tocco.

Charles Siragusa, a crack federal narcotics agent, described Priziola as a leader in the Mafia, a secret criminal society with roots in Italy.

"Superman" Faints

WEST LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor George Reeves, who plays "Superman" on television, fainted like a normal human being Wednesday after his sports car skidded into an embankment on Benedict Canyon Drive.

Reeves, 45, suffered a five-inch gash on his forehead in the crash. Residents of the area called for help and as police were questioning Reeves he collapsed, apparently from shock.

He was taken to Hollywood's Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

P. O. Dept. Rules Famous Goya Nude Obscene

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department has decided that Francisco Goya's famous 155-year old nude painting, "The Naked Maja," is obscene.

It ruled that United Artists could not send through the mail colored postcards promoting a movie of the same name on one side. The other side features Goya's plump likeness of the reclining Duchess of Alba, clad only in an enigmatic smile.

The department was unmoved by arguments that the original 1804 portrait hangs in Madrid's world-renowned Prado Museum and that the painting has been reproduced on stamps, no less, by Spanish postal authorities.

Bomb Ruled Out In Home Blast

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — Gas probably caused the explosion which wrecked the first floor of the home of the first Negro family to move into suburban Collins Park, state police said Wednesday.

Capt. John F. Herbert said investigations by police and the FBI ruled out a bomb as the cause of the blast in the $12,000 home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rayfield.

The brunt of the explosion was borne by a section of the kitchen occupied by a gas stove, which was demolished.

An explosives expert from the FBI laboratories in Washington examined the wrecked dwelling.

Herbert said afterward that "the possibility of a high-velocity explosive agent or bomb has been definitely eliminated."

Neither the Rayfields nor their teen-age daughter was at home at the time of the blast Tuesday night.

State police will continue the investigation.

Missile's Cone Retrieved After 5,000-Mile Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —A 5,000-mile test of a new warhead protector design ended successfully in the South Atlantic Wednesday with the first recovery of a nose cone hurled intercontinental distance.

The slim little cone, made of reinforced ceramic, was retrieved from the ocean near Ascension Island, midway between Brazil and Africa. The Air Force had been trying for a year to recover experimental cones after such long-range flights.

If three similar tests last summer had been successful, doctors would have been able to examine white mice which rode in the cones of earlier Thor-Able rockets in bio-medical experiments.

Officials said there was no living creature in Wednesday's cone, shaped like the neck and shoulders of a bottle. The primary aim in retrieving the cone was to enable missile men to make a first-hand check of how the cone fared in flight.

The purpose of the test series is to develop better materials to protect hydrogen warheads which intercontinental ballistic missiles would carry. The results of the Thor-Able series are expected to be applied to both the Titan and the Minuteman ICBMs.

The cone, presumably glowing fiery red with re-entry heat, was spotted by a search force as it plunged earthward minutes after the Douglas-made rocket blasted off from the cape at 1:35 a.m. e.s.t.

Upon contact with the atmosphere, the cone ejected a parachute to slow its fall and a flotation bag about the size of a medicine ball inflated automatically.

At 3:35 a.m. e.s.t., one aircraft sighted the dye marker released from the nose cone recovery package and guided the ships to that point, the Pentagon said.

Shooting Of Swiss Guard Leader Shocks Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The commander of the Swiss Guard, the Pope's personal military corps, was shot and wounded by a disgruntled former guardsman Wednesday in a struggle just outside the papal palace. Vatican officials were so shocked that at first they refused to discuss the shooting.

Col. Robert Nunlist, 48, guard commander, was wounded twice but not seriously. One bullet grazed his neck. The other struck him in the back.

The former guardsman, Adolf Rucker, 34, was wounded slightly in the face. It was not clear whether he deliberately shot himself or his gun went off accidentally in his fight with the colonel.

Such an incident never occurred before in the 4½-century history of the colorful guards who still wear medieval orange and purple striped uniforms with glittering headpieces and breastplates designed by Michelangelo.

A Vatican communique said "an ex-Swiss Guard fired two pistol shots at the commander of the corps, wounding him but not seriously."

It added that the ex-guard, Rucker, "had insisted on being re-enlisted into service after having been expelled last year because of epileptic symptoms caused by cranial trauma—brain injury."

Both men were taken to a Rome hospital, where an operation was performed to remove the bullet from Nunlist's back.

An investigation of the shooting was being made by Vatican police.

Ike Criticized At Big Labor Mass Meeting

Resolution Urges Congress Not Wait For Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 5,000 delegates wound up an AFL-CIO jobless rally Wednesday with a demand that the Democratic Congress begin immediate consideration of measures to restore full employment to America.

The throng jamming the National Guard Armory passed a resolution saying Congress should "wait no longer for administration leadership" in putting over measures to aid idle workers and spur the over-all economy.

A series of speakers criticized President Eisenhower on grounds he is complacent in the face of unemployment numbering 4,362,000.

There were allusions to Eisenhower's golf playing.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said he was afraid Eisenhower had become insulated by "comfortable bureaucrats and rich millionaires who play golf and bridge with him and let him shoot pheasants on their estates, a captive of hard-faced men who know exactly what they want."

One of the adopted resolutions called on Eisenhower to re-evaluate the nation's domestic situation.

Johnson Moves For Study

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told the cheering delegates he had just introduced legislation to create a commission to study the gravity of the unemployment problem and the actual need for more highway, housing, airport and other public works measures to buoy the economy.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO which sponsored the rally, accused the administration of "do nothing" policies and sounded a keynote for other speakers in maintaining that recent improvements still leave unemployment a serious national problem.

Meany said that despite what he called administration ballyhoo in announcing March job gains, the country still is left with 4,362,000 workers unable to find paying jobs to feed their families. The government announced Tuesday a drop of 400,000 in the number of unemployed.

Mitchell Well Received

Eisenhower's secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, nevertheless was well received by the throng assembled from 15 major East and Midwest labor areas.

Mitchell predicted employment will jump from 64 million now to 67 million by October, with idleness declining by over one million to three million or below.

Both Meany and Walter Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, described Mitchell as a personal friend. But Reuther took the bloom off the compliment.

"We like Jim Mitchell," he said. "But the unemployed can't stand on pious platitudes and promises. The tragedy is that Eisenhower administration policies are not formulated by Jim Mitchell but by Mr. George Humphrey on quail hunts in Georgia."

Soviet Travel Ban Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow's famed Bolshoi Ballet may dance in San Francisco, after all.

The State Department so ruled Wednesday. It also called off a week-old embargo on travel by Soviet diplomats in the United States. It noted that the Soviets have lifted their temporary clampdown against tours by U.S. officials in the U.S.S.R.

Press officer Lincoln White challenged the Kremlin to go all the way, or at least part way, toward lifting the separate curtain that continues to hide one-third of the Soviet Union from foreign visitors.

U.S. officials figured the temporary Soviet crackdown on official travelers was similar to one imposed last year during spring military maneuvers.

The United States has a tit-for-tat policy on travel restrictions. The Soviets don't seem much worried about the U.S. retaliation, but American officials have a different problem. In particular, in this case, these officials have been hearing from people who want to see the ballet performed by the world-renowned Bolshoi troupe.

The Bolshoi dancers are slated to arrive in New York toward the end of this week for an April 16 opening.

Man 'Just Out For Ride' Caught In Oyster War

Virginian Describes Potomac Encounter

COLONIAL BEACH, Va. (AP)—John F. Griffith, 39-year-old former Richmonder, caught by accident, he said, in Wednesday's shooting war on the Potomac, gave this version of the early-morning encounter to a News-Leader reporter:

"This is the second time in my life I've ever been out on that river. I was just out for a joy ride.

"We started out at daybreak—about 4:30 or 5 o'clock, I guess. We left from Miller's crab shore (on Monroe Bay). We hand-tonged a few oysters to get a few to eat. None of us had much time to stay. Maybe we got several bushels. We had worked about an hour about five miles from Colonial Beach when time creeped up on us.

"We started back and got about 400 feet off shore just below Reno Pier when we were intercepted by, I guess, a police boat. It seemed like we were headed for each other. We got about 50 to 75 feet from them when they suddenly turned right. We made a quick left to avoid a collision.

"That's when they blazed away. They never tried to halt us or anything. It sounded like gangs of shots.

"I only saw two men on the boat. I turned my back to them and ducked my head. Berkeley (Muse, who was killed) hollered 'Oh, I've been hit.' He laid down on the cull board (where oysters are put when they are removed from the water). The water was a little choppy and his head was bouncing around. I put my arm under his head. I asked him where he'd been hit. He didn't answer.

"King was at the controls. He yelled: 'Dammit, I've been hit, too,' as he grabbed at his leg. I asked King if he wanted me to take the boat back, but he said no and he drove it on back into Monroe Bay. They (the other boat) followed us to the entrance of the bay. We were moving along real fast. When we got back to the pier I took Muse on to the front of another boat tied there. King took our boat on up into Monroe Creek. I ran to a house and called a doctor and the rescue squad, but I'm sure he died before we got in."

Griffith contended he and his companions had done no dredging and that there was no dredging equipment aboard.

Arsonists Blamed For Coal Ramp Blast

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Arsonists were blamed for a fire and explosion early Wednesday in a dynamite magazine at a Letcher County coal ramp operated by Roland Price.

Price's nonunion operations have been a focal point of United Mine Workers' picketing in their seven-county strike in eastern Kentucky. They seek a raise of $2 for a total $24.25 daily wage.

Sheriff Johnny Fulton said two guards told him they saw a number of men pour gasoline under the door of the dynamite magazine then set the fire.

Hagen Predicts Long-Range TV Via Satellites

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard project for the National Aeronautics Space Administration, freely predicted Wednesday that the time isn't far off when a television program may be seen half way around the earth.

But it will be a few years, he cautioned, before Europeans can count on watching the late-late show from New York while eating their breakfast muffins.

"If a satellite is placed in orbit about 23,000 miles above the earth," he explained, "Its period of revolution will be one day. Thus if it is over the equator and traveling eastward, it will remain over the same spot indefinitely because the earth rotates beneath it at the same speed.

"Such a fixed satellite could be of maximum use to retransmit radio and TV programs, relay messages to ships at sea and serve as a link for inter-continental commercial traffic."

He paused to grin and interject: "I might say that when we look at some of our TV programs, I'm not sure if this would be a boon or not."

Hagen spoke at a luncheon given jointly by the Martin Co., maker of the Vanguard, and the U. S. Treasury Department for Baltimore industrialists in connection with the current U.S. savings bond drive.

Hagen said the next Vanguard launching is scheduled "very, very soon," but said he could not give an exact date.

Hagen said the Vanguard satellite launched last Feb. 15 was still sending back good data on weather mapping. The information still is being digested, he said. He called the program definitely a success.

Crash Injuries Fatal To Flying Instructor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rex A. Lawrence, 32-year-old civilian flying instructor, died at City Hospitals Wednesday of injuries received in a plane crash last Friday.

Lawrence was on a training flight with Army Lt. Robert J. L'Heureus when the plane's engine started to miss. After making a forced landing on a farm in the Edgemere section of Baltimore County, the plane overturned and trapped both men inside.

Lt. L'Heureus still is hospitalized with internal injuries.

Simple Ceremony Will Give Japan Future Empress

TOKYO (AP)—A tennis-playing commoner becomes a princess Friday. And someday she will be empress of Japan.

Michiko Shoda, 24, will wed Crown Prince Akihito, 25, heir to the throne, in a simple, 15-minute Shinto ceremony.

With an exchange of vows at 10 a.m.—8 p.m. EST Thursday—and a sip of sacred wine the crust of imperial tradition will be broken.

Never before has a commoner been chosen to fill the role of future empress. But a nation no longer tied down by imperial customs doesn't care, and is happy about the whole thing.

Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako will not take part. They could view it, as millions of Japanese will do, on television but they will be too busy to do even that.

Centuries-old tradition bars the Emperor and Empress from the ritual in the Kashikodokoro, or the inner sanctuary, of the moat-surrounded palace in the center of Tokyo.

Food Poisoning Hits Ohio Rally Delegates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 100 Ohio delegates to a big AFL-CIO unemployment rally here were hit by food poisoning Wednesday. Twenty five were taken to the hospital.

The unionists became ill after they arrived from Toledo. They attributed the attacks to a turkey dinner they ate aboard a special Baltimore & Ohio train Tuesday night.

Doctors and nurses were rushed to rally headquarters at the National Guard armory, where a temporary sick bay was set up in the basement.

Ken Kramer, American Red Cross liaison man, said he supervised treatment of about 75 persons there.

Federal and local authorities immediately launched an investigation. The B&O sent samples of water and food to the District Health department for analysis.

Delegates to the rally arrived by bus, auto and special trains. At least 100 of a 400-man group from Ohio were stricken with poisoning, apparently from food served on their train. Eighteen were hospitalized, but no serious cases were reported. At the day-long armory rally delegates were served hot lunches.

have been at odds over fishing rights in the river despite the Compact of 1785 which gave Virginians equal fishing and transportation rights on the Potomac in exchange for free passage of Maryland ships through the Virginia Capes.

The situation grew worse in 1930-31 when a concurrent law closed the Potomac to dredging. Oyster pirates ignored the conservation law and Maryland patrol boats began shooting in an effort to halt fleeing vessels.

A Maryland crabber was killed in a scuffle with a deputy of the Virginia Fisheries Commission in 1949. A special grand jury refused to indict the deputy.

There have been other shooting incidents and a number of boat rammings, but no other fatality was recorded in recent years until Wednesday.

State Reformatory Escapee Captured

BALTIMORE (AP) — Louis E. Wheeler, 24-year-old escapee from the Maryland Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown, was captured Wednesday in a Southwest Baltimore house.

Police converged on the house after receiving a tip Wheeler was inside. The fugitive attempted to climb from a second story window, but returned inside after being spotted by police.

Officers smashed in the front door and arrested the man hiding under a bed.

Legal Liquor Due In Okla. By July

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma Safety Commissioner Joe Cannon, credited with doing more than any other single person to bring legal liquor to Oklahoma, announced Wednesday he will resign to become legal advisor to the governor.

Cannon made his announcement as the Oklahoma Legislature prepared to work out a liquor control bill to vitalize the constitutional amendment adopted overwhelmingly by Oklahoma voters Tuesday. The vote ended the state's 51 years of liquor prohibition. Liquor sales will continue to be illegal until such a measure is passed by the Legislature and signed by Gov. J. Howard Edmondson. There were predictions this could come by July.

Under the amendment adopted by an unofficial vote of 396,461-314,894, liquor may be sold only in package stores. Sale of 3.2 per cent beer, legal in Oklahoma since 1933, will continue as now, both by the package and in taverns.

have been at odds over fishing rights in the river despite the Compact of 1785 which gave Virginians equal fishing and transportation rights on the Potomac in exchange for free passage of Maryland ships through the Virginia Capes.

The situation grew worse in 1930-31 when a concurrent law closed the Potomac to dredging. Oyster pirates ignored the conservation law and Maryland patrol boats began shooting in an effort to halt fleeing vessels.

A Maryland crabber was killed in a scuffle with a deputy of the Virginia Fisheries Commission in 1949. A special grand jury refused to indict the deputy.

There have been other shooting incidents and a number of boat rammings, but no other fatality was recorded in recent years until Wednesday.

State Reformatory Escapee Captured

BALTIMORE (AP) — Louis E. Wheeler, 24-year-old escapee from the Maryland Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown, was captured Wednesday in a Southwest Baltimore house.

Police converged on the house after receiving a tip Wheeler was inside. The fugitive attempted to climb from a second story window, but returned inside after being spotted by police.

Officers smashed in the front door and arrested the man hiding under a bed.

Legal Liquor Due In Okla. By July

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma Safety Commissioner Joe Cannon, credited with doing more than any other single person to bring legal liquor to Oklahoma, announced Wednesday he will resign to become legal advisor to the governor.

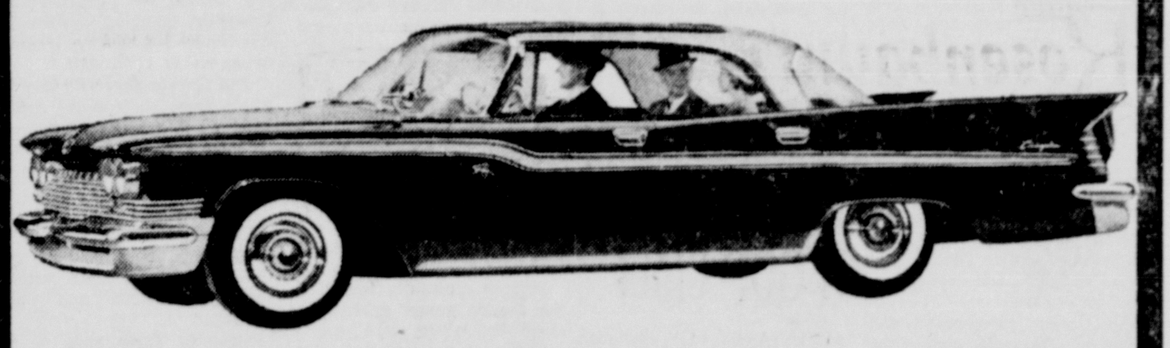

Cannon made his announcement as the Oklahoma Legislature prepared to work out a liquor control bill to vitalize the constitutional amendment adopted overwhelmingly by Oklahoma voters Tuesday. The vote ended the state's 51 years of liquor prohibition. Liquor sales will continue to be illegal until such a measure is passed by the Legislature and signed by Gov. J. Howard Edmondson. There were predictions this could come by July.

Under the amendment adopted by an unofficial vote of 396,461-314,894, liquor may be sold only in package stores. Sale of 3.2 per cent beer, legal in Oklahoma since 1933, will continue as now, both by the package and in taverns.

Last Year's Phone Rate Increase Held Excessive

People's Counsel Asks PSC Hearing

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland collected about six million dollars more than it should have under new rates allowed last year, the People's Counsel reported Wednesday.

Wilfred T. McQuaid, the counsel, petitioned the Public Service Commission to hold a hearing as soon as possible and determine if the rates were excessive. He asked that it order refunds to customers of any such funds.

McQuaid last month succeeded in having the Circuit Court order the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. to refund about $2,000,000.

The People's Counsel argued in the telephone case that rates fixed as result of a PSC ruling in 1958 had constituted "an unlawful, unreasonable and unlawful rate of return."

The PSC in February of last year had authorized C & P to realize a return of 6.25 per cent on its investment as compared to 6 per cent previously.

The increased percentage was supposed to have equaled $6,049,000. But McQuaid claimed the rates to accomplish it actually brought in about 12 million dollars.

"The facts are that our earnings level last year when realistically computed was less than 6 per cent and is far below that of other major industries in Maryland," stated W. Griffin Morrel, C & P vice president.

"Moreover, the company is now faced with the cost of another wage increase.

"We have been convinced for some time that the level of existing rates is insufficient to permit us to meet the public obligation in the period ahead."

The rate of return granted last year by the PSC was figured to be $2,500,000 less than sought by the telephone company.

Juvenile Courts Kept Busy In '57

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than 10,500 children were brought before juvenile court authorities in Maryland during 1957, a state report said Wednesday.

The figures were contained in the first annual report of the Juvenile Statistical Project, being carried on cooperatively between the state's Juvenile courts and the State Department of Public Welfare.

Figures for the report were drawn from 23 of the 24 juvenile courts in Maryland.

Of the 10,593 cases handled by juvenile courts in 1957, the report said, 7,818 were brought in for delinquency. The remaining 2,775 were picked up for non-delinquent reasons, usually the result of family circumstances rather than offenses.

The report said that five times as many boys as girls were brought to court on delinquency charges. Stealing was the most common offense, accounting for 19.5 per cent of all the juveniles brought to court.

Next came breaking and entering, 15 per cent; disorderly conduct 11.5 per cent; ungovernable and runaway, 11.5 per cent; truancy, 9 per cent and auto theft 8 per cent.

The report said 47 per cent were 15 to 17 years old and the largest single age group was 15, accounting for 1,745 of the juveniles.

Six Arrested For Two-State Burglary Wave

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—State Police announced Wednesday the arrests of six persons, all from Harford County, in connection with at least 25 burglaries in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Two of them, James A. Bullock, 21, of Rocks, Md., and Robert McGrady, 23, of Bel Air, were turned over to Pennsylvania authorities to face charges of breaking and entering, burglary and grand larceny.

The other four were ordered held for the Harford County grand jury in connection with at least five burglaries in Maryland.

Carl Lee Copenhaver, 26, of Joppa, Lowell Dean Caudill, 17, of Bel Air and Ivan Pennington, 21, also of Bel Air, were each charged with breaking and entering and larceny. All but Caudill also faced similar charges in Pennsylvania.

The Juvenile Court waived jurisdiction over Caudill and he will be tried as an adult.

In addition, Dominic James Oliveri, 48, of Aberdeen, was charged with receiving stolen property and held for the grand jury in $5,000 bond.

Bond for Copenhaver, Caudill and Pennington was set at $3,000 at a preliminary hearing here last Monday.

State Police said Trooper William Seekford picked up Bullock in Harford County April 1 on information that stolen property was in Bullock's car.

Seekford found the stolen goods in the car and Bullock was held for Pennsylvania authorities. State Police said Bullock's arrest led to the apprehending of the other four suspects and Oliveri, described as their fence for the stolen property.

State Police said they recovered about $3,000 in goods stolen from various places in the two state area.

Japanese Cherry Tree Spared Ax

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Plans to chop down a Japanese cherry tree to enlarge a parking lot at the local post office have been axed as a result of protests by residents of the community.

The tree, now in blossom, had been scheduled for removal to make room for more of those little red, white and blue "Mailmasters" ridden by suburban mailmen.

Earl O. Warnock, assistant post office superintendent, said he got a call from the General Services Administration to spare the tree.

Rock 'n' Roll Shows No Indication Of Fading Out

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dreadful news from the music front, shocking, distressing news for all us parents and assorted squares: Rock 'n' roll, alas, seems here to stay.

"Oh, it may get a little more civilized," Herbert Nelson said. "But there's no evidence at all that it's fading out."

Nelson is in a position to know. He's president of Panorama Records, one of the 300 or so companies grinding out records at, well, a record clip.

Although you'd never guess it if you had a 13-year-old daughter armed with her own transistor set, the nation's capital isn't much of a rock 'n' roll town.

Nelson puts Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and Philadelphia well in front, if that's the correct word for it.

Curiously, the age group seems severely limited. "It lasts normally from 12 to 17," Nelson said. "By the time you're 19, the kids say, 'That old guy, he goes for the squares.'"

Nelson took the long way around to the recording business.

He was born in Germany, the son of Rudolph Nelson, a song writer and theater man.

Nelson can remember the exact moment he decided to come to America. Paul Whiteman's orchestra visited Berlin. "When it played 'Rhapsody in Blue,' I said, 'That's for me.'"

He was even more impressed when Whiteman told his father he had just bought the rights to a German song, "Madonna, You're More Beautiful Than the Sunshine," which he thought would go over big in the United States.

It did, too. You're acquainted with it under another name: "When Day Is Done."

Well, after dropping off for 14 years in Holland, Nelson finally made it here. He went from the sheet music business to recording largely in self defense.

"I take a piece I like to a fellow and he says, 'That's a good song you have, but it's too good to be a hit. So I said, 'Why not record it myself?'"

Nelson is fond of American ways, but he thinks the Europeans have us beat in developing the right mood for show business. He thinks a Bavarian drinking song should be recorded in Bavaria, right amongst the suds.

So he was delighted when he got ready to record his latest piece, "Cognac and Kisses," and the cognac people sent around snifters for each musician.

"Listen," he said. "I have a record player here, and. . . ."

Listened. Bad news, all right. It's far too nice for today's hit parade.

Two Of Three Men Hurt In Blast Die

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Two of three men severely burned in a chemical plant explosion last weekend died Wednesday in Union Hospital.

The victims were William Maxwell, 35, and Otis Forrester, 28, both of Elkton.

Still in critical condition in the same hospital was Fred Williamson, also of Elkton.

3 Boys Skip School, Take 200-Mile Ride

BALTIMORE (AP)—Three 15-year-old boys who skipped school and took a 200-mile ride from Larchmont, N. Y., were held Wednesday for the arrival of their parents.

The youngsters were picked up on a Baltimore street after a policeman stopped their car for a routine check Tuesday.

Police said none of the boys held a driver's license or a registration card.

The car belonged to the parents of one of the boys. Police said the parents are in Europe.

Police quoted the boys as saying they began their joyride Tuesday morning and that they waved to police cars all along the way but were not stopped until they reached Baltimore.

One of the teen-agers had 55 cents in his pocket and the other two were without funds, but said they were willing to pawn their watches to get money for the return trip.

Tawes Signs Several Local Bills

Gov. J. Millard Tawes yesterday signed into law a number of Allegany County bills passed during the session of the General Assembly that adjourned Saturday night.

House Bill 766 sponsored by the six county delegates provides an inducement to new industry.

It exempts new industries locating in this county from all county and municipal taxation for ten years.

House Bill 768 sponsored by Delegates Fred B. Driscoll, Noel Speir Cook, William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr. will tighten up and eliminate some of the loopholes in the over-65 tax exemption law.

Previously under a bill enacted in the 1957 session those Allegany County property owners having an income of less than $100 a month were allowed real estate tax exemption.

However, misuses of this benefit were noted by the new Board of Allegany County Commissioners, including some where a property owner would deed his home over to his elderly parent or in-law, and thus beat the law.

The new provisions effective June 1 state that there must not be more than $1,200 a year income for all persons residing in a property in order to qualify.

Then, only the first $3,500 of assessed valuation is allowed to be exempted. This year, approximately $1,136,080 was removed from the tax base.

Another measure will tax those persons who have been living in house trailers. House Bill 795 sponsored by Del. Walsh provides for taxing of these mobile homes in the same manner as property is handled.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris will get a raise in his salary under House Bill 421 sponsored by the delegation.

This increases the amount the county commissioners must contribute to his salary from $2,500 a year to $4,500. This makes his annual wage $19,500. The state pays the remainder of his salary.

House Bill 526 sponsored by the Ways and Means Committee sets up specific measures for establishing Miners Hospital in Frostburg, as a private institution.

Today the hospital is the only one of its kind in Maryland supported by direct appropriations from the state's general fund. The hospital must be turned over to a private corporation by July 1, 1960. If no corporation takes over, the county commissioners must assume the operation of the hospital.

Other bills signed yesterday were:

House Bill 673 sponsored by the delegation requiring the county sheriff to make a monthly report of each prisoner held in the County Jail and the number of days which he serves, and also authorizing him to expend not less than 75 cents a day for each prisoner's food.

House Bill 333, sponsored by the delegation, including Allegany County in the state law on adoptions.

House Bill 674, sponsored by the delegation, authorizing the county commissioners to pay for ambulance service for the medically indigent.

House Bill 767, sponsored by the delegation, authorizing the LaVale Sanitary Commission to borrow $50,000.

Three Garrett Bills Signed

Three bills affecting Garrett County were signed into law yesterday by Gov. J. Millard Tawes in Annapolis.

Passed in the recent session of the General Assembly, they were:

House Bill 712 sponsored by Del. Elza E. Bray and L. E. Savage legalizes bingo and raffles by these groups—tax supported volunteer fire companies and auxiliaries; nationally chartered veterans organizations and their auxiliaries; bona fide religious group which has conducted services at one location for three years; non-profit organizations raising funds for an exclusively charitable, athletic or educational purpose.

The bill states specifically that nothing is to be construed as legalizing slot machines or any type of coin machine to be used for gambling purposes.

House Bill 537 sponsored by the Garrett County delegation that would apply the Garrett County property tax to house trailers.

Senate Bill 341 sponsored by Sen. Bernard I. Gonder that authorizes Maryland to join in the interstate compact to conserve gas and oil.

Finds Tax Solution

LONDON (UPI) — The Duke of Bedford has found a solution to one of his tax problems.

Tax collectors in South Africa's Parl District sent the Duke a bill for 14 cents to cover annual road taxes on his property there. To spare himself the cost and annoyance of mailing a small sum each year, the Duke sent $14 to cover the taxes for the next 100 years.

Bowman's Addition Man Is Held

A local man is being held in the City Jail in connection with two breaking and enterings which were discovered yesterday morning.

The man, Ellis H. Shifflet, 32, Bowman's Addition, was arrested by Officer Donald Boggs.

The breaking and enterings were discovered at Weslow's Gulf Station, corner of Market and Mechanic streets, and Wagner's Esso Station, across the street from the Weslow station.

Officer William Bennett found a window smashed in Weslow's station around 2:30 a. m. The intruder entered the building and made off with $6.55 in cash and a wrist watch.

Officer Boggs discovered the Wagner's case while patroling his beat at 6 a. m. Police said a window in the garage was smashed, but nothing was reported missing.

Detective Lt. James E. Van and Detective Thomas See questioned Shifflet yesterday in connection with the cases.

Lt. Van said Shifflet will be taken to Trial Magistrates Court today.

County Board Backs New Jail Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners is in full agreement with the recommendation of the April grand jury that a modern county jail be considered under a long-range program.

It was the opinion of the jurors when they submitted their report to Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court Tuesday that the present jail—built in the late 1800s—is "not suitable or acceptable for human incarceration."

The jurors also said the old building is a continuing financial burden which can be eliminated only by erection of a modern and up-to-date jail. The grand jury said the county commissioners should take the necessary steps to determine the cost and method of financing such a program and report to the October grand jury.

Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the board, went even further than the grand jury. He said that the best solution to not only the jail problem but the care of juveniles and operation of the Juvenile Court and Trial Magistrate Court would be the erection of suitable quarters on the county farm property or in some area outside the center of town.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said he also believes in the proposal by the grand jury. He cited the money situation facing the county and said that if it can be ironed out on a long-range basis it would be to the benefit of the county.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason said he had not had time to read the entire grand jury report but that there may be some hope of obtaining federal or state funds for such a project. He said the commissioners have discussed the problem of having various offices scattered about the city and believes some plan of consolidation could be worked out. He too believes a building outside the congested city would be one solution.

East Liverpool, O., is the pottery center of the United States.

No businessman outside the "racketeer" class has ever been sent to jail under the Sherman Anti-trust act, although suspended prison sentences have been given on rare occasions.

Star Of "Tom Thumb" Will Marshal Apple Blossom Firemen's Parade

RUSS TAMBLYN

WINCHESTER, Va. — Russ Tamblyn, motion picture actor who has appeared in 22 films, and is the star of the current movie "Tom Thumb," will come to the "Apple Capital" on Thursday, April 30, to be marshal of the firemen's parade of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

Tamblyn, 23 years old, started in the movies when about 12 years of age. He was an Academy Award nominee last year for his juvenile role in "Peyton Place." Now in the Army, Tamblyn is stationed in Special Services at Fort Sill, Okla. His presence here at Festival time will be on an extended week-end leave from the Oklahoma Army post.

In his most recent picture "Tom Thumb," the story taken from the Grimm's fairy tale, he showed his versatility not only as an actor but as a tumbler and all around athlete, as well as a singer. Tamblyn also dances and plays the piano, coming from a family of musical talent. The actor received his schooling in Los Angeles. He was a champion high school tumbler and finally became one of the six top tumblers of the nation.

George Pal, producer of the "Tom Thumb" picture, gave praise seldom accorded an actor when he stated, after production of the movie, that "Tamblyn's knowledge of athletic feats, combined with the ability of a seasoned young actor contributed much to the technical presentation of 'Tom Thumb'." After the movie was filmed in England, Tamblyn toured the principal cities of continental Europe.

Among the many other movies in which Tamblyn has appeared are: "Boy With the Green Hair," "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Deep in Your Heart," "High School Confidential," "Hit the Deck," and "Take the High Ground."

As marshal of the firemen's parade, Tamblyn will lead the largest aggregation of volunteer fire companies and equipment in the country.

Corporate Line Extension On Council Agenda

Lonaconing Unit To Study Salaries

LONACONING—The mayor and town councilmen will discuss, at tonight's regular meeting, plans to increase their salaries and to extend the corporate limits.

A proposal has been under discussion here to increase the salary of the mayor to $500 and salaries of each councilman to $250 per year. Since this is an election year, officials believe the salary proposal will cause renewed interest, and if salaries are raised, more candidates may be attracted.

Some townspeople have been urging the council to take necessary action to extend the corporate limits of the town to include an area down West Main Street to Valley High School and up the East End to Click's Crossing. This question, too, some observers believe may evolve into a political campaign issue.

Council will also hear reports on a road project under way since last week. This project includes the widening and blacktop surfacing of a street from Main to Furnace streets, adjoining the First Presbyterian parsonage.

UHF-TV Drive Is Organized At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Thomas Sluss, chairman of the drive to get subscribers for the UHF-TV program in Frostburg, has announced that plans are now in progress to set up workers for each area of the community who will contact their neighbors on April 15 and 16 and explain the program to them. Those wishing to join may make a donation paying either at once or in two or three installments. Citizens who have already made a contribution will not be expected to contribute again.

Flyers or hand bills have been printed and will be distributed over the city Saturday morning by Boy Scouts of Troops 42 and 48. Each scout will report to his patrol leader who will be assigned a certain area. They will pick up their handbills anytime Saturday after 9:30 a.m. at Ward's Studio, 19 Broadway.

According to a recent survey, at least 800 TV owners are now receiving the present UHF signal of station WTOP which is being rebroadcast to this area. Of this number only 260 persons have made a contribution to the program.

A building to house four translators will be started on Dan's Mountain in the very near future.

Heart Agency Seeking Funds

The Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association is sending letters to industries in this area in an effort to secure contributions in those industries which conduct an annual fund drive.

George R. Hughes Jr., chairman of the 1959 campaign, states in the letter the Heart Association is not a member of the United Fund and must depend primarily on individual contributions.

Mr. Hughes says the idea of one annual solicitation is a sound one, but the conclusion that these funds must be allotted to one multi-purpose agency is not.

The letter adds that such an agency necessarily supports activities to which some individual donors may not wish to contribute. Industries are requested to consider allocating part of the annual solicitation for Heart Association purposes from those employes who wish to contribute to this health agency.

The money is used to aid the work of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children with the crippled and handicapped children of the area. Goal of the campaign is $12,000.

Nearly 25,000 letters containing Easter Seals were mailed to residents of the county at the start of the campaign.

YMCA Council Meeting Set

A delegation of local YMCA directors, headed by President and Mrs. William R. Allen, will attend the 18th annual Central Atlantic Area YMCA Council meeting in Washington, D.C., this weekend.

The area conference has been held in previous years at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., but is scheduled for the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Board members and YMCA secretaries from Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the three-day session.

Workshop sessions will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Accompanying Dr. and Mrs. Allen will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann, Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop; and B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local YMCA.

ACTA Meets At Allegany Saturday

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. at Allegany High School auditorium.

Miss Mary E. Murray, association president, said last night that this will be one of the most important meetings of the year.

Officers for next year will be nominated. Three delegates to the national convention in St. Louis, Mo., will be elected. Delegates to the State Teachers Association convention in Baltimore next October will be nominated and elected at the next meeting.

Proposed changes in the association's by-laws will be read and considered, and will be voted on at the next meeting.

Miss Murray said reports are to be made on the recently held "Teachers Revue," on the Leadership Training Workshop planned for April 25 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, and plans for the annual dinner for retired teachers will be outlined. The dinner is held annually in May.

There will also be detailed discussion on the legislative program, including Gov. Tawes' school aid and teacher pay bill and the action of the General Assembly.

Zoning Appeal Set

The Board of Zoning Appeals will meet today at 8 p. m. in the Council Chamber to hear the appeal of Lewis Stevenson, 489 Nash Street, who asked permission to erect a seven-foot fence around Lots 19 and 20 of Nash Street.

Mission School Planned By Methodists

The Centenary, Zion, Pleasant Grove and Elliott Methodist churches will sponsor a school of missions beginning Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the Centenary Church on Bedford Road.

Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor of the Union Grove Methodist Charge which comprises the four churches, announced that the theme will be "Japan" and that the program will open with a fellowship supper stressing Japanese customs.

Miss Betty Alt, representative of the Women's Society of Christian Service, will be in charge of the program which will get under way at 7:30 p. m. She will lecture on Japan and show a display of Japanese items, offering a souvenir for everyone present.

Saturday night the school will begin at 7 p. m. with Miss Alt showing a short film. At 8 o'clock Rev. Charles Germany, a Methodist missionary on furlough from Japan, will show a film of his work in villages on the island of Shikoku.

Sunday morning at 9:15 Miss Alt will speak at Elliott, while Rev. Germany will address the Pleasant Grove congregation at 10 a. m. Miss Alt will be at Centenary at 11 a. m. for another address.

A mass missionary rally is planned for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Zion Church, when Rev. Germany will address the congregation on "Japan—Christian Challenge In A Land Of Change." The combined choirs of Zion Church will sing.

Rev. Germany and his wife went to Japan in 1947 where they spent eight years in village work on Shikoku Island. In 1957 he was appointed general secretary of the Council of Cooperation in Tokyo. This council coordinates the cooperative work of 10 mission boards of North America with the United Church of Christ in Japan and its related schools and social work agencies.

Rev. Germany, his wife, and their three children will return to the mission field in September.

Mrs. Robert Nield is chairman of the mission school and is being assisted by Miss Ilda Leasure, Lemuel Yokum and Robert Mertens.

Orndorff Begins Duties Officially

William B. Orndorff took over officially Tuesday as Allegany County's first county-wide tax collector under an annual salary of $7,500.

Mr. Orndorff was appointed at the January 2 meeting of the Board of County Commissioners for a four-year term starting the first Tuesday of April. He has been working at the tax collector's office since the sale of automobile license tags started the last week in February but only as a deputy to Tax Collector J. Wallace Close.

Working in the new county-wide tax collector's office at the Court House are Isaac J. Smith, assistant to the collector; Mrs. Grace F. Wilson, who continues as a clerk, the same position she held under Mr. Close, and Miss Barbara Hall, a new clerk.

Two other clerks appointed March 26, Mrs. Ann Perdew and Miss Janet Wilhelm, will assume their duties later. Formerly there were three collection districts in the county.

Tawes To Hear Liquor Dispute

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes will hear opponents of Maryland's new fair-trade liquor legislation before deciding whether to sign it, an aide said Wednesday.

Lloyd L. Simpkins, executive secretary to Tawes, said the hearing had been requested by opponents of the measure, under which all manufacturers or wholesalers would determine retail prices for liquor sold in Maryland.

Violators would be subject to suspension of their licenses.

The minimum price-fixing agreements between manufacturers and retailers are already legal under federal laws. But violators are now subject only to civil action by the wholesaler, who must obtain a federal court order to block further violations.

While the bill itself declares state policy to be the promotion of temperance by "eliminating price wars which unduly stimulate the sale and consumption of wines and liquors," opponents generally contend it is aimed at stifling competition from cut-rate liquor stores.

Beer is not included in the measure.

Police, Firemen Plan May Dance

A May Day Dance will be sponsored Friday, May 1, at the Clarysville Inn by the Cumberland Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

Peter Lukas and his 14-piece orchestra will provide music for the informal public dance which will be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Proceeds of the dance will be used toward the sick and death benefits of the association.

Tickets are available at Wilson Hardware Company, Sports Shoppe, Vandegrift's Music Store, Keech's Drugstores in South Cumberland, and at the Clarysville Inn. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the association.

In charge of arrangements are Robert Meister, association president, John Carney, vice president; Robert Long, secretary; John Daum, treasurer; Arthur Nave, John Chaney and Ralph Mahaney, trustees.

Heart Agency Seeking Funds

The Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association is sending letters to industries in this area in an effort to secure contributions in those industries which conduct an annual fund drive.

George R. Hughes Jr., chairman of the 1959 campaign, states in the letter the Heart Association is not a member of the United Fund and must depend primarily on individual contributions.

Mr. Hughes says the idea of one annual solicitation is a sound one, but the conclusion that these funds must be allotted to one multi-purpose agency is not.

The letter adds that such an agency necessarily supports activities to which some individual donors may not wish to contribute. Industries are requested to consider allocating part of the annual solicitation for Heart Association purposes from those employes who wish to contribute to this health agency.

Seal Donations Reach $7,714

Lucky Buck contributions to the Easter Seal campaign total $7,714, with 50 donations being received yesterday.

The money is used to aid the work of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children with the crippled and handicapped children of the area. Goal of the campaign is $12,000.

Nearly 25,000 letters containing Easter Seals were mailed to residents of the county at the start of the campaign.

YMCA Council Meeting Set

A delegation of local YMCA directors, headed by President and Mrs. William R. Allen, will attend the 18th annual Central Atlantic Area YMCA Council meeting in Washington, D.C., this weekend.

The area conference has been held in previous years at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., but is scheduled for the Mayflower Hotel in Washington on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Board members and YMCA secretaries from Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the three-day session.

Workshop sessions will be held Friday afternoon and Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Accompanying Dr. and Mrs. Allen will be Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann, Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop; and B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local YMCA.

ACTA Meets At Allegany Saturday

The Allegany County Teachers Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. at Allegany High School auditorium.

Miss Mary E. Murray, association president, said last night that this will be one of the most important meetings of the year.

Officers for next year will be nominated. Three delegates to the national convention in St. Louis, Mo., will be elected. Delegates to the State Teachers Association convention in Baltimore next October will be nominated and elected at the next meeting.

Proposed changes in the association's by-laws will be read and considered, and will be voted on at the next meeting.

Miss Murray said reports are to be made on the recently held "Teachers Revue," on the Leadership Training Workshop planned for April 25 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, and plans for the annual dinner for retired teachers will be outlined. The dinner is held annually in May.

There will also be detailed discussion on the legislative program, including Gov. Tawes' school aid and teacher pay bill and the action of the General Assembly.

Zoning Appeal Set

The Board of Zoning Appeals will meet today at 8 p. m. in the Council Chamber to hear the appeal of Lewis Stevenson, 489 Nash Street, who asked permission to erect a seven-foot fence around Lots 19 and 20 of Nash Street.

Mission School Planned By Methodists

The Centenary, Zion, Pleasant Grove and Elliott Methodist churches will sponsor a school of missions beginning Friday evening at 6 o'clock in the Centenary Church on Bedford Road.

Rev. Louis L. Emerick, pastor of the Union Grove Methodist Charge which comprises the four churches, announced that the theme will be "Japan" and that the program will open with a fellowship supper stressing Japanese customs.

Miss Betty Alt, representative of the Women's Society of Christian Service, will be in charge of the program which will get under way at 7:30 p. m. She will lecture on Japan and show a display of Japanese items, offering a souvenir for everyone present.

Saturday night the school will begin at 7 p. m. with Miss Alt showing a short film. At 8 o'clock Rev. Charles Germany, a Methodist missionary on furlough from Japan, will show a film of his work in villages on the island of Shikoku.

Sunday morning at 9:15 Miss Alt will speak at Elliott, while Rev. Germany will address the Pleasant Grove congregation at 10 a. m. Miss Alt will be at Centenary at 11 a. m. for another address.

A mass missionary rally is planned for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Zion Church, when Rev. Germany will address the congregation on "Japan—Christian Challenge In A Land Of Change." The combined choirs of Zion Church will sing.

Rev. Germany and his wife went to Japan in 1947 where they spent eight years in village work on Shikoku Island. In 1957 he was appointed general secretary of the Council of Cooperation in Tokyo. This council coordinates the cooperative work of 10 mission boards of North America with the United Church of Christ in Japan and its related schools and social work agencies.

Rev. Germany, his wife, and their three children will return to the mission field in September.

Mrs. Robert Nield is chairman of the mission school and is being assisted by Miss Ilda Leasure, Lemuel Yokum and Robert Mertens.

Orndorff Begins Duties Officially

William B. Orndorff took over officially Tuesday as Allegany County's first county-wide tax collector under an annual salary of $7,500.

Mr. Orndorff was appointed at the January 2 meeting of the Board of County Commissioners for a four-year term starting the first Tuesday of April. He has been working at the tax collector's office since the sale of automobile license tags started the last week in February but only as a deputy to Tax Collector J. Wallace Close.

Working in the new county-wide tax collector's office at the Court House are Isaac J. Smith, assistant to the collector; Mrs. Grace F. Wilson, who continues as a clerk, the same position she held under Mr. Close, and Miss Barbara Hall, a new clerk.

Two other clerks appointed March 26, Mrs. Ann Perdew and Miss Janet Wilhelm, will assume their duties later. Formerly there were three collection districts in the county.

Tawes To Hear Liquor Dispute

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes will hear opponents of Maryland's new fair-trade liquor legislation before deciding whether to sign it, an aide said Wednesday.

Lloyd L. Simpkins, executive secretary to Tawes, said the hearing had been requested by opponents of the measure, under which all manufacturers or wholesalers would determine retail prices for liquor sold in Maryland.

Violators would be subject to suspension of their licenses.

The minimum price-fixing agreements between manufacturers and retailers are already legal under federal laws. But violators are now subject only to civil action by the wholesaler, who must obtain a federal court order to block further violations.

While the bill itself declares state policy to be the promotion of temperance by "eliminating price wars which unduly stimulate the sale and consumption of wines and liquors," opponents generally contend it is aimed at stifling competition from cut-rate liquor stores.

Beer is not included in the measure.

Police, Firemen Plan May Dance

A May Day Dance will be sponsored Friday, May 1, at the Clarysville Inn by the Cumberland Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

Peter Lukas and his 14-piece orchestra will provide music for the informal public dance which will be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Proceeds of the dance will be used toward the sick and death benefits of the association.

Tickets are available at Wilson Hardware Company, Sports Shoppe, Vandegrift's Music Store, Keech's Drugstores in South Cumberland, and at the Clarysville Inn. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the association.

In charge of arrangements are Robert Meister, association president, John Carney, vice president; Robert Long, secretary; John Daum, treasurer; Arthur Nave, John Chaney and Ralph Mahaney, trustees.

Amcelle Plant Wins Safety Merit Award

The Amcelle plant was one of nine Celanese Corporation of America units to receive the 1958 National Safety Council's Award of Merit for more than a million man-hours without disabling injuries.

The Celanese Corporation's accident frequency rate last year was 1.93 accidents for each million hours worked, up from 1957's 1.63. The rate for all industry was 6.57 in 1957.

What Happened To Land Reform?

Communist Romania now announces that she is going to liquidate her remaining "kulaks." Anybody who hires a farmhand or rents farm property, says the announcement, proves that he owns too much land. That makes him a capitalist. The state will take his land and divide it among the landless.

But will the landless be permitted to keep it? Another part of the announcement from Bucharest boasts that 60 per cent of Romania's arable land is owned and operated by the state. The people whose avid hunger for a little plot of land to call their very own made them hail earlier Communist land reforms have in effect lost their land again. Sixty per cent of them have "voluntarily" seen their land go under "collective" ownership and control.

So Communist bureaucrats are the new kulaks. They exercise all the attributes of ownership. They skim the cream from the milk. Former beneficiaries of land reform, again dispossessed, now work for them in their old role of farm hands and sharecroppers.

That was the story in Russia, in China, and now in Romania. Under the banner of land reform, the landless peasants help the Communist bureaucrats take the land away from the owners. A little farther down the path, the bureaucrats replace the "kulaks" as owners and exploiters, and the landless are landless again.

Today in China, striving for fantastic increases in agricultural production as part of a "great leap forward," farm workers in communes of every age and sex live in barracks under complete military regimentation. Land reform, with peasants tilling their own acres, is now condemned as capitalist nonsense.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Taxing Sin

The government taxes about everything, including sin. For tax purposes, sin is not so easily definable; furthermore, different religions and sects have different sins.

For instance, is gambling a sin? According to some, gambling is not a sin if committed in the proper place or under the proper auspices. Gambling on the Stock Exchange is not sinful but a crap game in a cellar is. A Bingo game is not sinful but Chemin de Fer is. In New York State gambling is restricted but in Nevada it is free for all. Monaco lives on gambling but even the lottery is forbidden in the United States.

The income tax is collected on all sinful occupations, provided the Internal Revenue Service can discover the sinner. The point of the matter is that the federal government insists upon a cut on all gainful endeavors, including prostitution, gambling and murder. Al Capone, it will be recalled, went to prison for failure to pay his income tax on vice and sin, his only occupations.

In New York State a controversy rages between Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner on the subject of taxing off-track betting. The governor does not favor taxing off-track betting because it is sinful, but he collects from on-track betting presumably because it is not sinful.

This is not too complicated because what determines sin here is geography. If a fellow has the price to get into a race track to bet, he is not sinning, but if he stays home and telephones a bookie, he is sinning. The state collects a big tax on the parimutuel, which it controls through a Racing Commission but it gets nothing from all the betting that goes on all the time off the track, even elevator boys and news-stand operators acting as bookies' agents. In fact, all kinds of tip sheets are published to assist those who cannot go to races, to bet in the privacy of their own homes or in the rear rooms of saloons.

The Republican Majority Leader in the New York State Assembly, Joseph F. Carlino, wrote to a citizen:

"I have your recent communication on the subject of off-track betting.

"It is my firm conviction that the institution of such a system in this state would seriously damage the economic welfare of the average middle and low income family, and that our legislative proposals and governmental programs can be financed by customary and accepted means of revenue."

According to this letter, sin, if betting is a sin, is to be limited to the rich, another unfair monopoly. Carlino ought to explain the theological basis for this class conscious limitation upon the right to sin. The average middle and low income family, according to the aforesaid Majority Leader, must either avoid sin, or do it illegally and not be taxed for it, whereas the rich are free to do it in the open, provided they pay a tax.

But what about Bingo, or Gin Rummy, or Canasta? Are these sinful occupations or just pleasurable releases from the burdens of the day? The Majority Leader speaks not of such trivialities but wants to limit taxes to "customary and accepted means of revenue," such as putting a tax on each taxi ride, or setting up a withholding tax on employes.

It is very difficult to understand the logic of taxing sin on the race track and refusing to tax it off the race track. The probability is that the statesmen who make this distinction are not so profoundly concerned with sin as they are with politics, which is sometimes the worst sin of all.

Personally, I avoid betting but once I did go to a race track and I stood before a window and bought a two dollar ticket for something or other, not knowing any of the horses or anything about the races. Well, as I am a very lucky person, I won a lot of money on that two dollar ticket which I was about to throw away when my attention was called to my great victory. I could have been as smart sitting home, watching a murder on television and talking to a bookie on the telephone. And there are lots of people who bet on horses anyhow.

If it is a sin to be that dumb, a fellow should pay a tax.

The Tail's Wagging The Donkey Again

Two Exiled Dictators: Peron Turns Philosophical, Batista Is Impatient

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — Though Drew Pearson has now returned to Washington, the following column was written from the turbulent Caribbean where he interviewed some of the exiled dictators.)

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — This is a land of soft tropical days and hot Spanish tempers, a land where the nightingales' singing and the barking of rifles break the stillness of the night, a land where you can walk down palm-studded boulevards beside the lapping waves of the Caribbean and have a policeman for no reason at all suddenly tell you to walk on the other side of the street.

It's a land where the Spanish conquistadores built solid stone fortresses that rise straight up from the sea, but did not build a strong foundation of human rights. They built property rights, and later sovereign rights, but they did not build human rights.

And the battle for human rights has intensified of late and spilled blood all around the Caribbean until in some countries it's difficult to tell who is fighting for human rights and who is fighting for property rights.

Two Men In Exile

Here in the Dominican Republic, ruled by Rafael Trujillo and sometimes called the haven of dictators, live two exiled presidents — Juan Peron of Argentina and Fulgencio Batista of Cuba.

Peron has become philosophical in exile, Batista has not. Peron dances in the night clubs sometimes of an evening, or goes up to the mountains where it's cool. Batista paces the floor of his room in the hotel Jaragua, lonesome, fretful, worried over what is happening in Cuba.

Significantly, both these presidents had the strong backing of labor. The Argentine labor unions battled for Peron to the very end, while in Cuba they refused to go out on a general strike against Batista. Even in exile, Peron recently won a tremendous victory when his labor followers elected President Frondizi.

That victory has helped to make Peron philosophical. He can look back on his mistakes. His two greatest mistakes, politically, were favoring American oil companies and opposing the Catholic Church. Of these he believes that the opposition of the Church hurt him most.

He had antagonized the bishops by opposing the Church law that children of divorced parents were illegitimate. Peron felt deeply about this, because his late wife, Evita, was the child of divorced parents and stigmatized as illegitimate. Thousands of children are registered in Argentina as illegitimate because of this Church law and Peron proposed to change it. When he did so, the entire weight of the Church was thrown against him. He fell from power and was exiled.

Peron's proposal to change the oil laws to permit American firms to develop oil in Argentina also was unpopular. But significantly President Frondizi has now given concessions to the Atlas Corporation, of which Ike's bridge-playing partner, George Allen, is a director. There has been no popular protest.

Friendship For USA

Peron was not friendly toward the United States until the latter years of his regime. Then it hurt him politically. Batista was always friendly.

"I was a good friend of the United States," Batista reminisced to me. "When the United States was at war I gave her everything—sugar, extra landing rights, everything. A German submarine used to come up just outside Havana and taunt me—its captain spoke in Spanish—threatening to fire at the presidential palace. 'You are within range of our guns, Batista', he used to say. 'Be careful how you help the United States'.

"That, however, did not bother me.

"And later," continued Batista, "I broke relations with Russia, when you wanted me to. I exiled the Communist party. Now look what's happening to the Communists under Fidel Castro. They are flocking back into power. Soon they will be running Cuba. Do you think they will help you in case war breaks again? You will have a country friendly to Russia right under the nose of the United States.

"Yet today I cannot go back to the United States, the country I befriended. You have barred me. My former neighbors in Daytona Beach, Florida, 100 of them, have signed a petition saying that I was a good neighbor, and they would like to see me back. But your government which I befriended says no. My wife and children are in the United States, but I cannot go to see them.

"I sit here in this beautiful country, and I would like to be gay," said the man who once governed Cuba. "But I am not. I think of the people who are suffering in Cuba, the people who are being killed. And I wonder what I did wrong, and what I can do to help them.

"I don't know the answers. All I know is that I have no interest in going back to Cuba as a government official. But I do want to see my family and I would like to live with my old neighbors at Daytona Beach in the country I always befriended."

British Attacks On U. S. Generals Surprising

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What kind of "Iron Curtain" is there between Britain and the United States? Do the British correspondents stationed in this country send back home an objective story of what's been happening in the American government — or, if they do, is it possible that certain British newspapers ignore the facts and are unaware that they are breeding ill feeling between the two countries?

These questions are important because it is so desirable for the British and American governments to work together nowadays lest there be an enlargement of the already sizeable section of public opinion in America which believes that "foreign aid" is superfluous and that "mutual security" is merely an excuse for pouring out American billions.

The latest example of a serious misunderstanding was reported widely last Saturday when The Associated Press distributed throughout this country a dispatch which said in part:

"Do American generals talk too much? A British newspaper claims they do and thus imperil the world's hopes for peace . . .

"Britain's largest daily, the tabloid 'Daily Mirror' which leans toward Labor Party (Socialist) views, devoted its entire front page Friday to an editorial attack on 'Meddling American Generals' . . .

"The 'Mirror' has not been alone in its sentiments. The day before, the Laborite 'Daily Herald' and the Liberal 'News Chronicle' reported the British government planning to protest recent testimony before Congress by General Nathan Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and General Thomas E. White, U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff, about the war readiness of Allied rocket bases in Britain."

Is it possible that the British people were not informed previously by their correspondents in New York and Washington that the Eisenhower Administration had been accused week after week by prominent Democrats in Congress of letting the Soviet Union "get ahead of us," including charges that the "missile gap" is dangerous and that the President has been sacrificing the safety of his country for the sake of "budget balancing"? Have the newsmen from Britain told their editors and the British public that this barrage had to be answered publicly and that convincing or reassuring words could come only from the military chiefs in the American government? Is it possible that the British newsmen do not understand the currents of American politics? They surely must know partisanship isn't much different on this side of the Atlantic from what it is in the battles between the British Socialist Labor Party and the Conservatives in England.

American newsmen in London have reported faithfully to the American people that Prime Minister Macmillan has had to touch on many topics in his debates in the House of Commons that seem unfortunate from an American standpoint — such as "thinning out" of Allied troops and "disengagement" — but this doesn't result in front-page editorials denouncing him for "talking too much." There are differences of opinion expressed in the press here, and some concern, too, that the British Socialist Labor Party, like its Conservative counterpart under Chamberlain, may drag America into another world war through the paths of appeasement. But certainly there is no objection voiced to the fullest expression of views by British officials and the press. Indeed, there has been in this country even a recognition of the fact that Prime Minister Macmillan is in a tight spot politically and must maintain a "flexible" position with respect to the "summit" conference, for example, because he is under such heavy political attack by the Socialist Labor Party and its "left wingers."

Some of the Socialist Laborites object to American military bases in Britain. This is very comforting news always to the Soviet press, which displays such protests prominently. But do not the British critics realize that the worst thing that could happen to Anglo-American relations would be to stimulate the isolationists in America by telling them that only through "intercontinental missiles" and the "fortress America" concept can the safety of the United States be assured?

Have the British people not been told by their correspondents in America that economic aid, ever since the Marshall Plan was launched, has received its strongest support from those people in this country who think that overseas bases are important to the safety of the United States? Why should the Socialist Labor Party in Britain want to antagonize American public opinion by creating doubts as to whether, in an emergency, the bases would be available for use? For, only if they are, can retaliatory blows be struck from Britain as well as from other bases in Europe, thus reducing the value of intercontinental misiles to the Soviets.

To cry out that the American generals "talk too much" is misdirected criticism. Rather it should be directed to all those politicians who not only talk too much but who, when they see a political advantage to be gained, actually appease too much and thus pave the way for an enemy to miscalculate on the West's being too weak or too scared to resist — the very way that world wars in the past have been provoked.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

U.S.-made voting machines will be displayed in Moscow next summer. What will, no doubt, astound the Russkis the most is that the contrivances have room for more than one party to vote for.

Americans collected a total of $4.8 billion in health insurance benefits in 1958. That apple a day may be cheaper, at that!

The U. S. first bought Florida and then Alaska from foreign countries — historical item. When it comes to being a real estate buyer Uncle Sam seems to blow hot then cold.

A California scientist is experimenting with bedbugs, trying to get the pests to prefer snuggling up to rabbits instead of human. That, declares Junior, is a dirty trick to play on the Easter Bunny!

Two centuries ago, only warriors were permitted to eat candy in Morocco—historical item. Just a bunch of chocolate soldiers?

An historian claims that while the French forces were in the field, Napoleon's chef was under orders to roast a fresh chicken every 20 minutes. That army must have had far more drumsticks than drums!

Hereditary Aspects Of Children's Allergies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A person with a family history of allergy usually inherits the predisposition, or capacity, to become sensitive to some agent.

The father may develop hives whenever he eats eggs, but the son may be plagued with asthma due to dust or animal dander. Allergy is becoming a major problem in the U. S. A. Ten per cent of the population is bothered and the number is bound to increase because of the heriditary aspects of the condition. In addition, our industries are producing more and different chemical products all the time and these substances are potential offenders.

For these reasons, the offspring exposed unnecessarily to trouble makers. Avoidance of allergens of allergic parents should not be may not be easy or practical, but there are advantages in stalling off allergic manifestations as long as possible.

Exzema in infancy may be the first clue that Johnny is predisposed to the condition. Mary might develop colic, vomiting, diarrhea, nasal stuffiness coughing, or wheezing that is traced finally to cow's milk. These symptoms may clear up, but unless the allergic aspect is pursued and steps are taken, chronic allergy is in the making.

Experience shows that the usual story is eczema or colic in infancy due to foods such as eggs and cow's milk; asthma in childhood from dust, including animal dander; and, later, hay fever from pollen.

There are so many potential agents that could lead to allergy, no one can avoid them all. This is why the specific offenders must be ferreted out and an attempt made to minimize contact with them.

The most common food allergens in children are milk, tomatoes, eggs, chocolate, cola drings, legumes, strawberries, cereals, beef, potatoes, cinnamon, fish, pork, and corn. The most common inhalants are house dust, feathers, wool dander, animal dander, pollens, and molds. From here on in, individual variations occur, ranging from stove and shoe polish to dust from dead May flies.

BATH ITCH

P. R. writes: What causes the skin to itch after the morning shower?

REPLY

The hot water may be responsible, and in this respect, itching represents a physical allergy to heat. Itching also may come from the use of soap or from the dryness resulting from removal of skin oils.

CAR FUMES

W. L. writes: I just learned that the exhaust pipe in my car is gone and that gas fumes have been seeping into my car. I have been driving with the windows closed but cover only about five miles a day. Do you think this leak has done my body any harm?

REPLY

Not unles you have symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning. I assume the auto mechanic has taken care of your exhaust problem.

FOCAL INFECTION

J. W. writes: Can bad teeth cause sciatica?

REPLY

This was the theory up to about 25 years ago. Today, focal infections rarely are implicated. The majority of cases of sciatica are caused bp pressure on a nerve root by a disk that protudes from a vertebra in the lower spine.

CONTINUOUS INJECTIONS

J. Z. writes: In what month should a northerner begin taking hay fever shots? Last year I didn't start on time and regretted it.

REPLY

There is no harm in starting now. Several schedules are available but many physicians have obtained best results with perennial desensitization.

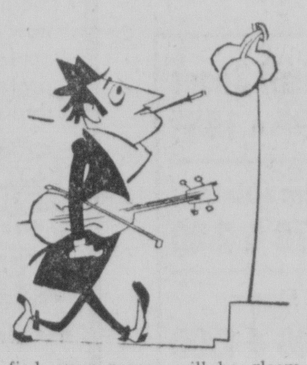

TOMORROW: Frozen food storage.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Newman Levy was asked to provide a quick joke for Mischa Auer to deliver in a movie. He suggested tha Auer enter a hockshop to pawn a violin. "I'll give you 10 bucks for it," proposed the pawnbroker. "Ten bucks!" cried Auer. "Why, this fiddle once belonged to Kreisler." "I don't care if it belonged to Buick," concluded the pawnbroker. "Ten bucks is all you get."

The producer was delighted with Newman's quip, and laughed heartily. "Wonderful!" he exclaimed, "but I forgot to tell you we've cut this scene out of the picture."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WASHINGTON — The nation's capital is rapidly becoming a Negro city.

A survey by the District of Columbia municipal government shows that Washington, D. C., has approximately 825,000 residents at this time—about the same as in 1950.

There has been, however, a startling population shift that underlines the problems of the nation's capital. Eight years ago, Negroes accounted for 30 per cent of the population. The current survey indicates that they comprise 53 per cent of the population — a majority — and one municipal planning expert, who declined to be quoted by name, reports that by 1965 he expects the population of Washington, D. C., to be 80 per cent Negro and 20 per cent white.

"Only a few long-time white residents in the better neighborhoods and the central business district will remain," he told the writers.

A portent for the future is that, at the present time, almost three-fourths of the school population of Washington, D. C., is Negro.

Some Congressmen are disturbed. For instance, Rep. James G. Davis of Georgia, a bitter foe of integration, charged: "Washington is becoming another Harlem. Somebody out to get a medal for this."

However, it should be pointed out that most of Washington's municipal problems are financial . . . and that the principal malefactor is the federal government. In 1920, for example, the federal contribution to the local government in lieu of paying taxes for the services the vast federal installations here require, almost matched, dollar for dollar, the amount paid by local taxpayers.

Today, however, the federal government pays only one dollar in 10 of the amount required to run the District of Columbia government — a vastly inadequate sum.

As a result taxes on homeowners are sky-high. And, smarting under Congress' refusal to allow Washingtonians to vote, the numerous other discriminations, many of the most desirable residents have long since fled to the nearby Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

If Representative Davis really wants to give someone a medal, perhaps he should consider giving it to himself and to his colleagues on the District of Columbia committee which has, for so long, refused to prod—or even permit—Congress into paying anything like its fair share of the local tax load.

As the Negro population increases, the District of Columbia's financial plight inevitably must become more desperate—if possible—because Negroes traditionally have less money and are less able to pay the taxes required to keep up a glamorous showcase city like the nation's capital.

If, as the District of Columbia commissioners forsee in their official report, things continue to go as they have been, by 1965 the city will have a deficit of some $180 million.

The increasing Negro population, while decreasing the amount of tax revenue, drastically increases the demand on municipal services. The commissioners noted that non-white famliies made up no less than 88 per cent of all public assistance recipients.

Is Washington, D. C., now America's most beautiful city and one of the showplaces of the world, doomed to become a blighted slum?

The answer has to be an unqualified "Yes . . . unless . . ."

The "unless" should read "unless the people of America become excited about the shocking condition of their national capital and prod Congress into doing something about it."

What Happened To Land Reform?

Communist Romania now announces that she is going to liquidate her remaining "kulaks." Anybody who hires a farmhand or rents farm property, says the announcement, proves that he owns too much land. That makes him a capitalist. The state will take his land and divide it among the landless.

But will the landless be permitted to keep it? Another part of the announcement from Bucharest boasts that 60 per cent of Romania's arable land is owned and operated by the state. The people whose avid hunger for a little plot of land to call their very own made them hail earlier Communist land reforms have in effect lost their land again. Sixty per cent of them have "voluntarily" seen their land go under "collective" ownership and control.

So Communist bureaucrats are the new kulaks. They exercise all the attributes of ownership. They skim the cream from the milk. Former beneficiaries of land reform, again dispossessed, now work for them in their old role of farm hands and sharecroppers.

That was the story in Russia, in China, and now in Romania. Under the banner of land reform, the landless peasants help the Communist bureaucrats take the land away from the owners. A little farther down the path, the bureaucrats replace the "kulaks" as owners and exploiters, and the landless are landless again.

Today in China, striving for fantastic increases in agricultural production as part of a "great leap forward," farm workers in communes of every age and sex live in barracks under complete military regimentation. Land reform, with peasants tilling their own acres, is now condemned as capitalist nonsense.

These Days

Taxing Sin

The government taxes about everything, including sin. For tax purposes, sin is not so easily definable; furthermore, different religions and sects have different sins.

For instance, is gambling a sin? According to some, gambling is not a sin if committed in the proper place or under the proper auspices. Gambling on the Stock Exchange is not sinful but a crap game in a cellar is. A Bingo game is not sinful but Chemin de Fer is. In New York State gambling is restricted but in Nevada it is free for all. Monaco lives on gambling but even the lottery is forbidden in the United States.

The income tax is collected on all sinful occupations, provided the Internal Revenue Service can discover the sinner. The point of the matter is that the federal government insists upon a cut on all gainful endeavors, including prostitution, gambling and murder. Al Capone, it will be recalled, went to prison for failure to pay his income tax on vice and sin, his only occupations.

In New York State a controversy rages between Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner on the subject of taxing off-track betting. The governor does not favor taxing off-track betting because it is sinful, but he collects from on-track betting presumably because it is not sinful.

This is not too complicated because what determines sin here is geography. If a fellow has the price to get into a race track to bet, he is not sinning, but if he stays home and telephones a bookie, he is sinning. The state collects a big tax on the parimutuel, which it controls through a Racing Commission but it gets nothing from all the betting that goes on all the time off the track, even elevator boys and news-stand operators acting as bookies' agents. In fact, all kinds of tip sheets are published to assist those who cannot go to races, to bet in the privacy of their own homes or in the rear rooms of saloons.

The Republican Majority Leader in the New York State Assembly, Joseph F. Carlino, wrote to a citizen:

"I have your recent communication on the subject of off-track betting.

"It is my firm conviction that the institution of such a system in this state would seriously damage the economic welfare of the average middle and low income family, and that our legislative proposals and governmental programs can be financed by customary and accepted means of revenue."

According to this letter, sin, if betting is a sin, is to be limited to the rich, another unfair monopoly. Carlino ought to explain the theological basis for this class conscious limitation upon the right to sin. The average middle and low income family, according to the aforesaid Majority Leader, must either avoid sin, or do it illegally and not be taxed for it, whereas the rich are free to do it in the open, provided they pay a tax.

But what about Bingo, or Gin Rummy, or Canasta? Are these sinful occupations or just pleasurable releases from the burdens of the day? The Majority Leader speaks not of such trivialities but wants to limit taxes to "customary and accepted means of revenue," such as putting a tax on each taxi ride, or setting up a withholding tax on employes.

It is very difficult to understand the logic of taxing sin on the race track and refusing to tax it off the race track. The probability is that the statesmen who make this distinction are not so profoundly concerned with sin as they are with politics, which is sometimes the worst sin of all.

Personally, I avoid betting but once I did go to a race track and I stood before a window and bought a two dollar ticket for something or other, not knowing any of the horses or anything about the races. Well, as I am a very lucky person, I won a lot of money on that two dollar ticket which I was about to throw away when my attention was called to my great victory. I could have been as smart sitting home, watching a murder on television and talking to a bookie on the telephone. And there are lots of people who bet on horses anyhow.

If it is a sin to be that dumb, a fellow should pay a tax.

The Tail's Wagging The Donkey Again

Two Exiled Dictators: Peron Turns Philosophical, Batista Is Impatient

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note — Though Drew Pearson has now returned to Washington, the following column was written from the turbulent Caribbean where he interviewed some of the exiled dictators.)

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — This is a land of soft tropical days and hot Spanish tempers, a land where the nightingales' singing and the barking of rifles break the stillness of the night, a land where you can walk down palm-studded boulevards beside the lapping waves of the Caribbean and have a policeman for no reason at all suddenly tell you to walk on the other side of the street.

It's a land where the Spanish conquistadores built solid stone fortresses that rise straight up from the sea, but did not build a strong foundation of human rights. They built property rights, and later sovereign rights, but they did not build human rights.

And the battle for human rights has intensified of late and spilled blood all around the Caribbean until in some countries it's difficult to tell who is fighting for human rights and who is fighting for property rights.

Two Men In Exile

Here in the Dominican Republic, ruled by Rafael Trujillo and sometimes called the haven of dictators, live two exiled presidents — Juan Peron of Argentina and Fulgencio Batista of Cuba.

Peron has become philosophical in exile, Batista has not. Peron dances in the night clubs sometimes of an evening, or goes up to the mountains where it's cool. Batista paces the floor of his room in the hotel Jaragua, lonesome, fretful, worried over what is happening in Cuba.

Significantly, both these presidents had the strong backing of labor. The Argentine labor unions battled for Peron to the very end, while in Cuba they refused to go out on a general strike against Batista. Even in exile, Peron recently won a tremendous victory when his labor followers elected President Frondizi.

That victory has helped to make Peron philosophical. He can look back on his mistakes. His two greatest mistakes, politically, were favoring American oil companies and opposing the Catholic Church. Of these he believes that the opposition of the Church hurt him most.

He had antagonized the bishops by opposing the Church law that children of divorced parents were illegitimate. Peron felt deeply about this, because his late wife, Evita, was the child of divorced parents and stigmatized as illegitimate. Thousands of children are registered in Argentina as illegitimate because of this Church law and Peron proposed to change it. When he did so, the entire weight of the Church was thrown against him. He fell from power and was exiled.

Peron's proposal to change the oil laws to permit American firms to develop oil in Argentina also was unpopular. But significantly President Frondizi has now given concessions to the Atlas Corporation, of which Ike's bridge-playing partner, George Allen, is a director. There has been no popular protest.

Friendship For USA

Peron was not friendly toward the United States until the latter years of his regime. Then it hurt him politically. Batista was always friendly.

"I was a good friend of the United States," Batista reminisced to me. "When the United States was at war I gave her everything—sugar, extra landing rights, everything. A German submarine used to come up just outside Havana and taunt me—its captain spoke in Spanish—threatening to fire at the presidential palace. 'You are within range of our guns, Batista', he used to say. 'Be careful how you help the United States'.

"That, however, did not bother me.

"And later," continued Batista, "I broke relations with Russia, when you wanted me to. I exiled the Communist party. Now look what's happening to the Communists under Fidel Castro. They are flocking back into power. Soon they will be running Cuba. Do you think they will help you in case war breaks again? You will have a country friendly to Russia right under the nose of the United States.

"Yet today I cannot go back to the United States, the country I befriended. You have barred me. My former neighbors in Daytona Beach, Florida, 100 of them, have signed a petition saying that I was a good neighbor, and they would like to see me back. But your government which I befriended says no. My wife and children are in the United States, but I cannot go to see them.

"I sit here in this beautiful country, and I would like to be gay," said the man who once governed Cuba. "But I am not. I think of the people who are suffering in Cuba, the people who are being killed. And I wonder what I did wrong, and what I can do to help them.

"I don't know the answers. All I know is that I have no interest in going back to Cuba as a government official. But I do want to see my family and I would like to live with my old neighbors at Daytona Beach in the country I always befriended."

British Attacks On U. S. Generals Surprising

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What kind of "Iron Curtain" is there between Britain and the United States? Do the British correspondents stationed in this country send back home an objective story of what's been happening in the American government — or, if they do, is it possible that certain British newspapers ignore the facts and are unaware that they are breeding ill feeling between the two countries?

These questions are important because it is so desirable for the British and American governments to work together nowadays lest there be an enlargement of the already sizeable section of public opinion in America which believes that "foreign aid" is superfluous and that "mutual security" is merely an excuse for pouring out American billions.

The latest example of a serious misunderstanding was reported widely last Saturday when The Associated Press distributed throughout this country a dispatch which said in part:

"Do American generals talk too much? A British newspaper claims they do and thus imperil the world's hopes for peace . . .

"Britain's largest daily, the tabloid 'Daily Mirror' which leans toward Labor Party (Socialist) views, devoted its entire front page Friday to an editorial attack on 'Meddling American Generals' . . .

"The 'Mirror' has not been alone in its sentiments. The day before, the Laborite 'Daily Herald' and the Liberal 'News Chronicle' reported the British government planning to protest recent testimony before Congress by General Nathan Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and General Thomas E. White, U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff, about the war readiness of Allied rocket bases in Britain."

Is it possible that the British people were not informed previously by their correspondents in New York and Washington that the Eisenhower Administration had been accused week after week by prominent Democrats in Congress of letting the Soviet Union "get ahead of us," including charges that the "missile gap" is dangerous and that the President has been sacrificing the safety of his country for the sake of "budget balancing"? Have the newsmen from Britain told their editors and the British public that this barrage had to be answered publicly and that convincing or reassuring words could come only from the military chiefs in the American government? Is it possible that the British newsmen do not understand the currents of American politics? They surely must know partisanship isn't much different on this side of the Atlantic from what it is in the battles between the British Socialist Labor Party and the Conservatives in England.

American newsmen in London have reported faithfully to the American people that Prime Minister Macmillan has had to touch on many topics in his debates in the House of Commons that seem unfortunate from an American standpoint — such as "thinning out" of Allied troops and "disengagement" — but this doesn't result in front-page editorials denouncing him for "talking too much." There are differences of opinion expressed in the press here, and some concern, too, that the British Socialist Labor Party, like its Conservative counterpart under Chamberlain, may drag America into another world war through the paths of appeasement. But certainly there is no objection voiced to the fullest expression of views by British officials and the press. Indeed, there has been in this country even a recognition of the fact that Prime Minister Macmillan is in a tight spot politically and must maintain a "flexible" position with respect to the "summit" conference, for example, because he is under such heavy political attack by the Socialist Labor Party and its "left wingers."

Some of the Socialist Laborites object to American military bases in Britain. This is very comforting news always to the Soviet press, which displays such protests prominently. But do not the British critics realize that the worst thing that could happen to Anglo-American relations would be to stimulate the isolationists in America by telling them that only through "intercontinental missiles" and the "fortress America" concept can the safety of the United States be assured?

Have the British people not been told by their correspondents in America that economic aid, ever since the Marshall Plan was launched, has received its strongest support from those people in this country who think that overseas bases are important to the safety of the United States? Why should the Socialist Labor Party in Britain want to antagonize American public opinion by creating doubts as to whether, in an emergency, the bases would be available for use? For, only if they are, can retaliatory blows be struck from Britain as well as from other bases in Europe, thus reducing the value of intercontinental misiles to the Soviets.

To cry out that the American generals "talk too much" is misdirected criticism. Rather it should be directed to all those politicians who not only talk too much but who, when they see a political advantage to be gained, actually appease too much and thus pave the way for an enemy to miscalculate on the West's being too weak or too scared to resist — the very way that world wars in the past have been provoked.

Hereditary Aspects Of Children's Allergies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A person with a family history of allergy usually inherits the predisposition, or capacity, to become sensitive to some agent.

The father may develop hives whenever he eats eggs, but the son may be plagued with asthma due to dust or animal dander. Allergy is becoming a major problem in the U. S. A. Ten per cent of the population is bothered and the number is bound to increase because of the heriditary aspects of the condition. In addition, our industries are producing more and different chemical products all the time and these substances are potential offenders.

For these reasons, the offspring exposed unnecessarily to trouble makers. Avoidance of allergens of allergic parents should not be may not be easy or practical, but there are advantages in stalling off allergic manifestations as long as possible.

Exzema in infancy may be the first clue that Johnny is predisposed to the condition. Mary might develop colic, vomiting, diarrhea, nasal stuffiness coughing, or wheezing that is traced finally to cow's milk. These symptoms may clear up, but unless the allergic aspect is pursued and steps are taken, chronic allergy is in the making.

Experience shows that the usual story is eczema or colic in infancy due to foods such as eggs and cow's milk; asthma in childhood from dust, including animal dander; and, later, hay fever from pollen.

There are so many potential agents that could lead to allergy, no one can avoid them all. This is why the specific offenders must be ferreted out and an attempt made to minimize contact with them.

The most common food allergens in children are milk, tomatoes, eggs, chocolate, cola drings, legumes, strawberries, cereals, beef, potatoes, cinnamon, fish, pork, and corn. The most common inhalants are house dust, feathers, wool dander, animal dander, pollens, and molds. From here on in, individual variations occur, ranging from stove and shoe polish to dust from dead May flies.

BATH ITCH

P. R. writes: What causes the skin to itch after the morning shower?

REPLY

The hot water may be responsible, and in this respect, itching represents a physical allergy to heat. Itching also may come from the use of soap or from the dryness resulting from removal of skin oils.

CAR FUMES

W. L. writes: I just learned that the exhaust pipe in my car is gone and that gas fumes have been seeping into my car. I have been driving with the windows closed but cover only about five miles a day. Do you think this leak has done my body any harm?

REPLY

Not unles you have symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning. I assume the auto mechanic has taken care of your exhaust problem.

FOCAL INFECTION

J. W. writes: Can bad teeth cause sciatica?

REPLY

This was the theory up to about 25 years ago. Today, focal infections rarely are implicated. The majority of cases of sciatica are caused bp pressure on a nerve root by a disk that protudes from a vertebra in the lower spine.

CONTINUOUS INJECTIONS

J. Z. writes: In what month should a northerner begin taking hay fever shots? Last year I didn't start on time and regretted it.

REPLY

There is no harm in starting now. Several schedules are available but many physicians have obtained best results with perennial desensitization.

TOMORROW: Frozen food storage.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Nats-Orioles, Bucs-Reds Open Baseball Season Today

Two Contests To Preview Early Start

Nixon To Toss Out Ball At Washington; Reds In 75th Opener

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The big leagues open the baseball season earlier than ever this year with two special previews Thursday at Washington and Cincinnati. The bulk of the teams start Friday with a seven-game schedule.

With the early start the owners can cram an extra Sunday into the schedule and cash in on an extra weekend of network game-of-the-week telecasts.

The Baltimore Orioles, pace setters in the exhibition game season, play at Washington where 25,000 are expected to see the presidential opener. They won't see President Eisenhower, however, for he is on a golfing vacation. Vice President Nixon will throw out the first ball.

Pedro Ramos (14-18), an opening day winner last year with a five-hitter against Boston, will try to get the Senators off on the right foot. Washington closed out the 1958 season with a 13-game losing streak and has been picked by the nation's baseball writers to finish last once more.

Ran Into Trouble

Baltimore ran into trouble in a hotel room, of all places. Billy Klaus, supposed to start at third base, slipped on a bathroom floor and jammed his side against a wash basin Monday night. He is a doubtful starter. The Orioles, strong on defense and weak on punch despite their robust hitting in Florida, will use Jack Harshman (12-15), a left-hander who beat Washington four times last year.

Cincinnati will celebrate its 75th opener a traditional spring fete in the Rhineland, by playing highly regarded Pittsburgh. The customary crowd of 32,000 or better will be on hand when Gov. Happy Chandler of Kentucky, former baseball commissioner, makes a strong first pitch.

Appearance of the Pirates at Crosley Field at such an early moment offers great opportunity for the fans to cheer or second guess one of the big trades of the winter. Frank Thomas, the former Pirate, will be playing for the Reds and Don Hoak, Smoky Burgess and Harvey Haddix, former Cincinnati players, will be wearing Pittsburgh flannel.

Purkey To Pitch

Bob Purkey (17-11) who beat his former Pittsburgh mates three times last season, will pitch for the power-packed Reds. The Pirates, bubbling with pennant talk, will use Ronnie Kline (13-16). Their ace, Bob Friend, (22-14) will work at Pittsburgh against Milwaukee's Warren Spahn (22-11) in the home opener Friday.

New York, with Milwaukee the pre-season favorites, also waits until Friday to get started. The Yankees will open their bid for a 10th pennant for Casey Stengel at Yankee Stadium against the Boston Red Sox, minus ailing Ted Williams. Bob Turley (21-7) will be the Yankee pitcher. Bill Skowron, troubled with an aching back, may return to first base. Tom Brewer (12-12) will pitch for Boston. They won only four games at the Stadium all last season.

Chicago will be at Detroit in another Friday game with two of the league's better pitchers, Billy Pierce (17-11) of the White Sox and Jim Bunning (14-12) of the Tigers, due to meet. It will be the first chance for Detroit fans to see such new faces as Eddie Yost, Rocky Bridges and Larry Doby.

The managers still are sparring with starting pitcher choices for the Cleveland at Kansas City opener. Joe Gordon of the Indians says it is between rookie Jim Perry up from Reading, Pa., and Gary Bell (12-10). Harry Craft of the A's is torn between Ned Garver (12-11) and Bob Grim (7-7).

Have Off Day

Baltimore and Washington will have a day off after their Thursday opener but there will be a full schedule in the National on Friday, including two night games at St. Louis and Philadelphia.

The San Francisco Giants, picked by many to win the pennant, open at St. Louis with left-handed Johnny Antonelli (16 - 13) facing Larry Jackson (13-13) in Solly Hemus' debut as Cardinal manager.

Cincinnati will travel to Philadelphia to help the Phils open Friday night with left-handed Joe Nuxhall (12-11) the likely pitcher against Robin Roberts (17 - 14), drawing his 10th opening assignment. In the other National League game it will be Don Drysdale (12-13) for the Los Angeles Dodgers against 23-year-old Bob Anderson (3-3) of the Cubs at Chicago.

The scoring for individual events will be 5-3-2-1 and 10-5 for the relays.

Kenneth Babcock, of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be the referee and starter for the meet at Beall Stadium.

Coach Ed Schwarz will take his Allegany High trackmen to Berkeley Springs today to meet Charles Town and Berkeley Springs in a triangular meet at 3:30 p.m.

The Campers launched their season last week with a victory over the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney.

Ernie Nelson boomed out a two-run triple to highlight the first inning attack while Wayne Redman's double plated two more runs in the big sixth. Louis Alt collected two singles for the winners.

Losing pitcher was starter Joe Luffman for the Grads who obtained only two hits, both coming in the sixth inning off the slants of Roger Keplinger.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pirate pitcher George Witt was given an injection of cortisone Wednesday for an inflamed elbow and was told by Dr. Joseph Finegold that he should be ready for action in four or five days.

Dr. Finegold said Witt experienced recurrence of an ailment that plagued him twice last season and was given similar treatment. The right hander was sent here from Fort Myers, Fla., to receive treatment after his pitching arm troubled him.

"Witt is symptom - free and there are no other injuries," Dr. Finegold said.

Henry Hurls Berkeley To 4-0 Victory

Indians Top Capon Bridge In PVC Tilt

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va.—Gary Henry tossed a one-hitter and fanned 11 enemy batsmen as Berkeley Spring's Indians downed Capon Bridge, 4-0, in a Potomac Valley Conference game here yesterday. It was the opening baseball game of the new season for both nines.

The tall righthanded fastballer mowed the opposition down after giving up a one-out single to Lupton in the first inning for Capon Bridge's only bingle.

Coach Allan Goldstrom's Indians pushed over a pair of runs in the second inning on Frank Henry's single and a pair of Capon Bridge errors, then added another tally in the third frame when A. L. Rice doubled and came around on singles by David Stotler and Gene Henry. Stotler and Gene Henry each had two hits for the winners.

Berkeley Springs played without the services of two of its stars who were injured last week in track practice. Ken Kerns, regular outfielder and pitcher, sustained a sprained ankle while Billy Clatterbuck, third baseman, tore the ligaments in his right knee and underwent surgery.

Berkeley will play at Warfordsburg, Pa., on Friday at 3 p. m. The lineups:

Fisher Star As Orioles Blank Phils

Frostburger Goes Route In 3-0 Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Fisher, 20-year-old native Marylander, made a strong pitch to stick with the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday by starring in a 3-0 baseball exhibition victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

He became the only Oriole pitcher to go nine innings as the exhibition schedule came to a finish and he did it impressively.

The Phillies knocked only three singles from his right hand pitches. In the bargain, the native of Frostburg clouted a triple which drove in two runs.

That was in the second inning when the Orioles bunched three of their four hits for all their runs with the aid of two wild throws by Lefty Pitcher Seth Morehead.

The Orioles wound up their exhibition season with a 17-8 record before 1,317 fans. The Phillies finished 11-14.

Fisher, who is 6 foot, 2 inches tall and weighs 205 pounds, is one of the youngsters over whom Manager Paul Richards has been pondering whether to keep on the major league roster.

Fisher pitched his first season professionally last year at Wilson, N. C. He won 14 and lost 11.

Indians Win Over Alumni

Mt. Savage Cops Easy 6-2 Verdict

MT. SAVAGE — Coach Joe Carter's veteran Mt. Savage High School baseball team opened the 1959 campaign with a convincing 6-2 triumph over an Alumni nine here yesterday.

Chuck Winebrenner gained the verdict over the Grads with a three-hit effort in five innings for the schoolboys. He struck out five and walked one while allowing one run.

Mt. Savage salted away the victory early with three runs in the second inning. Don Lowery walked and went to second on a wild pitch. He moved to third on an attempted pickoff that went awry. Walks to Ed Trimble and Rich Lybarger loaded the sacks. Gene Lowery then singled home two runs and the third crossed the plate on catcher Jim Hott's error.

Lybarger belted out a home run in the fourth frame with Trimble aboard via being hit with a pitch for two more Mt. Savage tallies. Ray Often chipped in with a double for the Indians.

Ken Brant obtained two of the Grads' four bingles. The lineups:

Tinkalero Cops Jamaica Stakes By Half Length

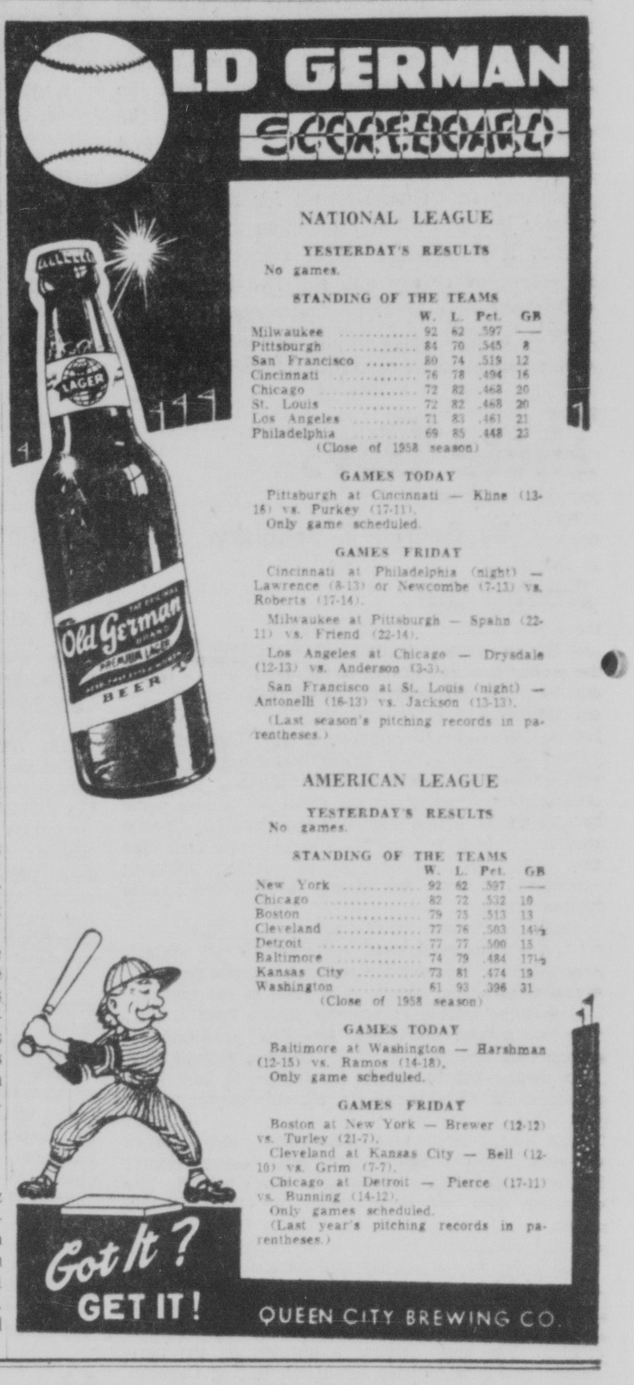

Race Nets Filly $17,998 Jackpot

JAMAICA, N. Y., April 8 (AP) — John J. Monaco's Tinkalero turned on the power in the stretch to win the 20th running of the $28,150 Correction Handicap for fillies and mares at Jamaica Race Track today.

The 4-year-old daughter of Bolero-Miss Tinka, well handled by Arthur Sherman, cut the corner at the top of the stretch to sweep by the pace-setting Mrs. Hellen and then had enough left to stave off the closing rush of Fred P. Meagher's Mare's Beau to win by half a length in the good time of 1:11 for the six furlongs. The stakes record is 1:10 4/5 set by Little Risk in 1940.

Third money went to North Hill Farm's Any Morn a length and a quarter back and a similar distance to the good of Harold H. Polk's Mlle. Dianne, the favorite with the crowd of 24,068 enjoying the warmest day of the year in New York.

Nats-Orioles, Bucs-Reds Open Baseball Season Today

Two Contests To Preview Early Start

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The big leagues open the baseball season earlier than ever this year with two special previews Thursday at Washington and Cincinnati. The bulk of the teams start Friday with a seven-game schedule.

With the early start the owners can cram an extra Sunday into the schedule and cash in on an extra weekend of network game-of-the-week telecasts.

The Baltimore Orioles, pace setters in the exhibition game season, play at Washington where 25,000 are expected to see the presidential opener. They won't see President Eisenhower, however, for he is on a golfing vacation. Vice President Nixon will throw out the first ball.

Pedro Ramos (14-18), an opening day winner last year with a five-hitter against Boston, will try to get the Senators off on the right foot. Washington closed out the 1958 season with a 13-game losing streak and has been picked by the nation's baseball writers to finish last once more.

Ran Into Trouble

Baltimore ran into trouble in a hotel room, of all places. Billy Klaus, supposed to start at third base, slipped on a bathroom floor and jammed his side against a wash basin Monday night. He is a doubtful starter. The Orioles, strong on defense and weak on punch despite their robust hitting in Florida, will use Jack Harshman (12-15), a left-hander who beat Washington four times last year.

Cincinnati will celebrate its 75th opener a traditional spring fete in the Rhineland, by playing highly regarded Pittsburgh. The customary crowd of 32,000 or better will be on hand when Gov. Happy Chandler of Kentucky, former baseball commissioner, makes a strong first pitch.

Appearance of the Pirates at Crosley Field at such an early moment offers great opportunity for the fans to cheer or second guess one of the big trades of the winter. Frank Thomas, the former Pirate, will be playing for the Reds and Don Hoak, Smoky Burgess and Harvey Haddix, former Cincinnati players, will be wearing Pittsburgh flannel.

Purkey To Pitch

Bob Purkey (17-11) who beat his former Pittsburgh mates three times last season, will pitch for the power-packed Reds. The Pirates, bubbling with pennant talk, will use Ronnie Kline (13-16). Their ace, Bob Friend, (22-14) will work at Pittsburgh against Milwaukee's Warren Spahn (22-11) in the home opener Friday.

New York, with Milwaukee the pre-season favorites, also waits until Friday to get started. The Yankees will open their bid for a 10th pennant for Casey Stengel at Yankee Stadium against the Boston Red Sox, minus ailing Ted Williams. Bob Turley (21-7) will be the Yankee pitcher. Bill Skowron, troubled with an aching back, may return to first base. Tom Brewer (12-12) will pitch for Boston. They won only four games at the Stadium all last season.

Chicago will be at Detroit in another Friday game with two of the league's better pitchers, Billy Pierce (17-11) of the White Sox and Jim Bunning (14-12) of the Tigers, due to meet. It will be the first chance for Detroit fans to see such new faces as Eddie Yost, Rocky Bridges and Larry Doby.

The managers still are sparring with starting pitcher choices for the Cleveland at Kansas City opener. Joe Gordon of the Indians says it is between rookie Jim Perry up from Reading, Pa., and Gary Bell (12-10). Harry Craft of the A's is torn between Ned Garver (12-11) and Bob Grim (7-7).

Have Off Day

Baltimore and Washington will have a day off after their Thursday opener but there will be a full schedule in the National on Friday, including two night games at St. Louis and Philadelphia.

The San Francisco Giarts, picked by many to win the pennant, open at St. Louis with left-handed Johnny Antonelli (16 - 13) facing Larry Jackson (13-13) in Solly Hemus' debut as Cardinal manager.

Cincinnati will travel to Philadelphia to help the Phils open Friday night with left-handed Joe Nuxhall (12-11) the likely pitcher against Robin Roberts (17 - 14), drawing his 10th opening assignment. In the other National League game it will be Don Drysdale (12-13) for the Los Angeles Dodgers against 23-year-old Bob Anderson (3-3) of the Cubs at Chicago.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's Beall High School thinclads will launch their season today by playing host to Keyser and Ridgeley in the Mountain City. The program will get under way at 3:30.

The scoring for individual events will be 5-3-2-1 and 10-5 for the relays.

Fifteen events are listed, namely, 100 and 220 dashes, 440 and 880 yard and one mile runs, 440, 880 and mile relays, 180 low hurdles, 120 high hurdles, broad and high jumps, pole vault, shot put and discus throw.

Keyser won last year by rolling up 49 points to Beall's 33 and Ridgeley's 19.

Beall has lost the services of a top sprinter in Jack Stevenson who quit track to become caddy master at the Maplehurst Country Club for the summer. Stephenson, a sophomore, was a junior high standout last year and he was a comer in the sprint relays and broad jump.

Kenneth Babcock, of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be the referee and starter for the meet at Beall Stadium.

Coach Ed Schwarz will take his Allegany High trackmen to Berkeley Springs today to meet Charles Town and Berkeley Springs in a triangular meet at 3:30 p.m.

Indians Top Capon Bridge In PVC Tilt

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. —Gary Henry tossed a one-hitter and fanned 11 enemy batsmen as Berkeley Spring's Indians downed Capon Bridge, 4-0, in a Potomac Valley Conference game here yesterday. It was the opening baseball game of the new season for both nines.

The tall righthanded fastballer mowed the opposition down after giving up a one-out single to Lupton in the first inning for Capon Bridge's only bingle.

Coach Allan Goldstrom's Indians pushed over a pair of runs in the second inning on Frank Henry's single and a pair of Capon Bridge errors, then added another tally in the third frame when A. L. Rice doubled and came around on singles by David Stotler and Gene Henry. Stotler and Gene Henry each had two hits for the winners.

Berkeley Springs played without the services of two of its stars who were injured last week in track practice. Ken Kerns, regular outfielder and pitcher, sustained a sprained ankle while Billy Clatterbuck, third baseman, tore the ligaments in his right knee and underwent surgery.

Berkeley will play at Warfordsburg, Pa., on Friday at 3 p. m. The lineups:

Fisher Star As Orioles Blank Phils

Frostburger Goes Route In 3-0 Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Fisher, 20-year-old native Marylander, made a strong pitch to stick with the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday by starring in a 3-0 baseball exhibition victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

He became the only Oriole pitcher to go nine innings as the exhibition schedule came to a finish and he did it impressively.

The Phillies knocked only three singles from his right hand pitches. In the bargain, the native of Frostburg clouted a triple which drove in two runs.

That was in the second inning when the Orioles bunched three of their four hits for all their runs with the aid of two wild throws by Lefty Pitcher Seth Morehead.

The Orioles wound up their exhibition season with a 17-8 record before 1,317 fans. The Phillies finished 11-14.

Fisher, who is 6 foot, 2 inches tall and weighs 205 pounds, is one of the youngsters over whom Manager Paul Richards has been pondering whether to keep on the major league roster.

Fisher pitched his first season professionally last year at Wilson, N. C. He won 14 and lost 11.

Mt. Savage Cops Easy 6-2 Verdict

MT. SAVAGE — Coach Joe Carter's veteran Mt. Savage High School baseball team opened the 1959 campaign with a convincing 6-2 triumph over an Alumni nine here yesterday.

Chuck Winebrenner gained the verdict over the Grads with a three-hit effort in five innings for the schoolboys. He struck out five and walked one while allowing one run.

Mt. Savage salted away the victory early with three runs in the second inning. Don Lowery walked and went to second on a wild pitch. He moved to third on an attempted pickoff that went awry. Walks to Ed Trimble and Rich Lybarger loaded the sacks. Gene Lowery then singled home two runs and the third crossed the plate on catcher Jim Hott's error.

Lybarger belted out a home run in the fourth frame with Trimble aboard via being hit with a pitch for two more Mt. Savage tallies. Ray Often chipped in with a double for the Indians.

Ken Brant obtained two of the Grads' four bingles. The lineups:

Tinkalero Cops Jamaica Stakes By Half Length

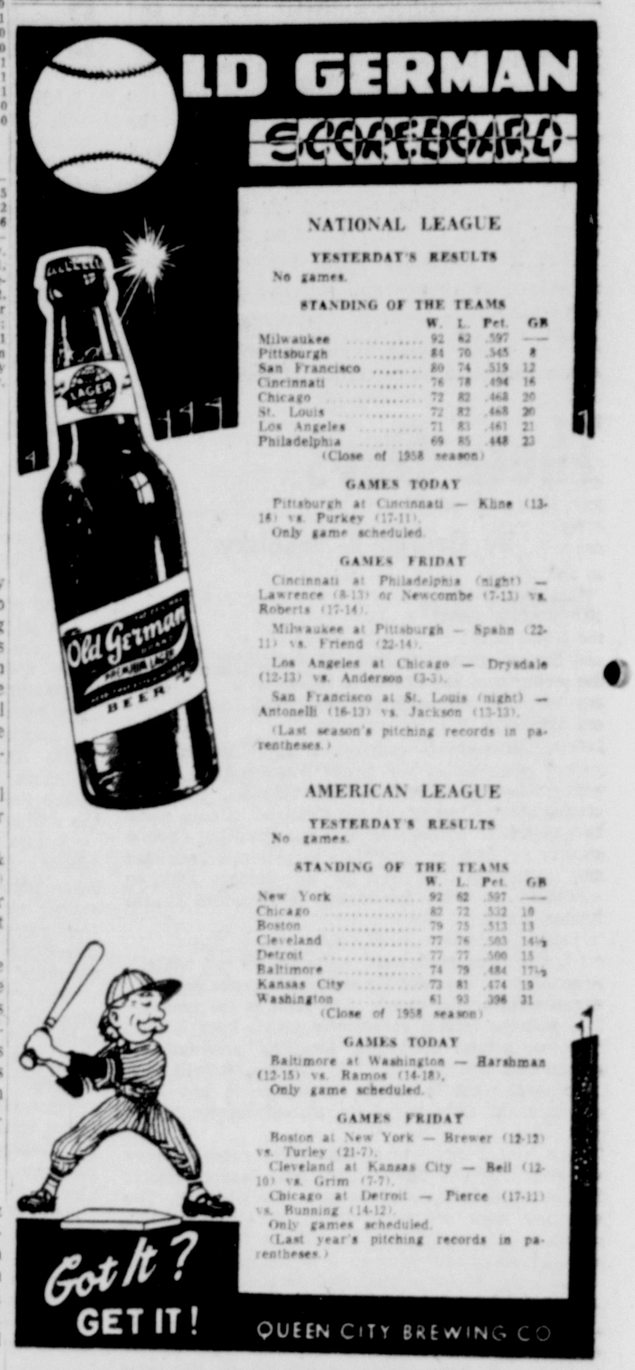

Race Nets Filly $17,998 Jackpot

JAMAICA, N. Y., April 8 (AP) — John J. Monaco's Tinkalero turned on the power in the stretch to win the 20th running of the $28,150 Correction Handicap for fillies and mares at Jamaica Race Track today.

The 4-year-old daughter of Bolero-Miss Tinka, well handled by Arthur Sherman, cut the corner at the top of the stretch to sweep by the pace-setting Mrs. Hellen and then had enough left to stave off the closing rush of Fred P. Meagher's Mare's Beau to win by half a length in the good time of 1:11 for the six furlongs. The stakes record is 1:10 4/5 set by Little Risk in 1940.

Third money went to North Hill Farm's Any Morn a length and a quarter back and a similar distance to the good of Harold H. Polk's Mlle. Dianne, the favorite with the crowd of 24,068 enjoying the warmest day of the year in New York.

Eddie Erdelatz Resigns As Naval Academy Grid Coach

Decision To Quit Comes As Surprise

No Reason Given; Had Three Years To Go On Contract

The surprise announcement from Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, academy superintendent, gave no immediate reason for the resignation of the 45-year-old coach who has guided Navy to 50 victories, including two bowl championships, since he came here in 1950. His teams have lost 26 and tied 8.

Erdelatz was not immediately available for comment.

The resignation is effective immediately, Melson said.

The announcement came late Wednesday and followed several days of talks between Erdelatz and academy officials. He had been in closed-door sessions with Capt. Slade Cutter, director of athletics, and other academy officials throughout most of the day.

Under Five-Year Pact

Erdelatz was working under a five-year contract which still had three more years to run. His annual salary was reported in the vicinity of $17,000 when his last agreement was signed in 1957.

Cutter said no salary problems were involved in the discussion and that "our talks were most amiable."

"Mr. Erdelatz' resignation creates an acute problem at this time in that spring practice has been terminated," Cutter said. "Football plans have already been laid for next fall.

"The assistants have assured me that they will remain for the coming season. This provides the continuity which alleviates the problem somewhat.

"Mr. Erdelatz and I have discussed the situation. He did not disclose to me his personal reasons for resigning. We wish him every success in his future endeavors."

In 10th Season

This fall would have been the 10th football season at Navy for the genial native of San Francisco and former defensive coach for the professional San Francisco 49-ers. He set a new longevity record for Naval Academy coaches, both civilian and military.

Only last week, he announced with enthusiasm plans for the coming football season, saying he had decided in spring practice to employ a three-team system for next year.

Erdelatz, a 1936 graduate and former end at St. Marys College in California, became a Navy hero his first year as head coach here. After a losing 3-6 season, his team defeated heavily favored Army 14-2 in a major upset. Navy teams had lost to their arch rivals the six previous years.

His second and last losing season at Navy came the following year when the Middies won only 2, lost 6 and tied 1 but again whipped Army. Altogether, they beat the Cadets five times and tied them once in the nine-year span.

Successful Season

Blaik was at West Point for 17 years and in the coaching business for 25 years. He entered business after retiring from coaching.

In 1954, Erdelatz took an underdog Middie team through a successful season to Navy's first postseason bowl game in 30 years. The Middies toppled Mississippi, 21-0.

After an 8-1-1 season in 1957, he took them to the Cotton Bowl where they whipped Rice 20-7.

Soon after his Cotton Bowl victory, Erdelatz was lured to Texas A & M for talks about the coaching job there but returned to Navy and said he planned to finish his coaching career here.

Luebke Returned

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Pitcher Dick Luebke was returned by the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

Drafted by the Cardinals after last season, Luebke had an 11-7 won-lost record last year with San Antonio of the Texas League.

Simmons Placed On Inactive List, Hamner Returns

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Infielder Granny Hamner has been restored to the active list and pitcher Curt Simmons has been placed on the inactive list, the Philadelphia Phillies were informed Wednesday.

The Phillies were notified by the baseball commissioner's office that the moves have been approved.

Hamner went on the disabled list last May after an operation on a knee. Simmons will undergo surgery Friday for the removal of a loose bone fragment in his ailing left elbow. He is expected to be sidelined at least until the middle of the season.

Eddie Erdelatz Resigns As Naval Academy Grid Coach

Decision To Quit Comes As Surprise

No Reason Given; Had Three Years To Go On Contract

The surprise announcement from Rear Adm. Charles L. Melson, academy superintendent, gave no immediate reason for the resignation of the 45-year-old coach who has guided Navy to 50 victories, including two bowl championships, since he came here in 1950. His teams have lost 26 and tied 8.

Erdelatz was not immediately available for comment.

The resignation is effective immediately, Melson said.

The announcement came late Wednesday and followed several days of talks between Erdelatz and academy officials. He had been in closed-door sessions with Capt. Slade Cutter, director of athletics, and other academy officials throughout most of the day.

Under Five-Year Pact

Erdelatz was working under a five-year contract which still had three more years to run. His annual salary was reported in the vicinity of $17,000 when his last agreement was signed in 1957.

Cutter said no salary problems were involved in the discussion and that "our talks were most amiable."

"Mr. Erdelatz' resignation creates an acute problem at this time in that spring practice has been terminated," Cutter said. "Football plans have already been laid for next fall.

"The assistants have assured me that they will remain for the coming season. This provides the continuity which alleviates the problem somewhat.

"Mr. Erdelatz and I have discussed the situation. He did not disclose to me his personal reasons for resigning. We wish him every success in his future endeavors."

In 10th Season

This fall would have been the 10th football season at Navy for the genial native of San Francisco and former defensive coach for the professional San Francisco 49-ers. He set a new longevity record for Naval Academy coaches, both civilian and military.

Only last week, he announced with enthusiasm plans for the coming football season, saying he had decided in spring practice to employ a three-team system for next year.

Erdelatz, a 1936 graduate and former end at St. Marys College in California, became a Navy hero his first year as head coach here. After a losing 3-6 season, his team defeated heavily favored Army 14-2 in a major upset. Navy teams had lost to their arch rivals the six previous years.

His second and last losing season at Navy came the following year when the Middies won only 2, lost 6 and tied 1 but again whipped Army. Altogether, they beat the Cadets five times and tied them once in the nine-year span.

Successful Season

Blaik was at West Point for 17 years and in the coaching business for 25 years. He entered business after retiring from coaching.

In 1954, Erdelatz took an underdog Middie team through a successful season to Navy's first post-season bowl game in 30 years. The Middies toppled Mississippi, 21-0.

After an 8-1-1 season in 1957, he took them to the Cotton Bowl where they whipped Rice 20-7.

Soon after his Cotton Bowl victory, Erdelatz was lured to Texas A & M for talks about the coaching job there but returned to Navy and said he planned to finish his coaching career here.

Luebke Returned

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Pitcher Dick Luebke was returned by the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

Drafted by the Cardinals after last season, Luebke had an 11-7 won-lost record last year with San Antonio of the Texas League.

Simmons Placed On Inactive List, Hamner Returns

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Infielder Granny Hamner has been restored to the active list and pitcher Curt Simmons has been placed on the inactive list, the Philadelphia Phillies were informed Wednesday.

The Phillies were notified by the baseball commissioner's office that the moves have been approved.

Hamner went on the disabled list last May after an operation on a knee. Simmons will undergo surgery Friday for the removal of a loose bone fragment in his ailing left elbow. He is expected to be sidelined at least until the middle of the season.

Gas Company Plans Contest

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is making plans to hold a "Mrs. America" contest among Allegany County homemakers to select contestants for the state title.

Contestants will vie in kitchen skills and home management in seeking various prizes and the chance to be the state winner competing in the national finals in Florida next June.

The state winner and her husband will receive a two-week all expense trip to Florida to compete in the finals.

Camper Club To Meet

The Allegany Camper Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Allegany High School, according to John Yoder, president, who said all board members are to attend since important business will be transacted.

LaVale Zoning Board Has Busy First Year

A total of 33 permits have been handled by the LaVale Zoning Board since the enactment of zoning laws for that community May 1, 1958, the board informed the LaVale Civic Improvement Association at a meeting Monday night.

Twenty permits for residences were issued and several are in the stage of being processed.

One occupancy permit was denied by the board, but the decision was appealed and overruled in Allegany County Circuit Court. This case has been taken to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

There was also one permit for a non-conforming use issued.

The board noted that it is checking the building permits issued by the Allegany Assessing Department and comparing that list with the ones granted in LaVale.

A few violations have been noted and these persons will be summoned to confer with the board.

The law setting up the zoning ordinance provides that a penalty of fines up to $250 may be assessed those builders or erectors of signs in LaVale who do not get permits.

Permits, the board told the association, are also required of trailers locating in the community.

The zoning body also stated in its first annual report that all zoning applications and business will be transacted in the LaVale Fire Hall on the second Thursday of each month. Today the board holds its only meeting of the month at 7 p.m. in the basement of the fire hall.

The civic improvement association, which sponsored zoning for LaVale, a fast growing section, was also informed that the Board of Allegany County Commissioners will act soon on filling a vacancy on the board.

That has existed since the resignation of Leslie J. Clark who was named county attorney in December.

The board's two members are C. A. Lancaster, chairman, and Theodore P. Foote, secretary. The appointee will serve the remainder of the six-year term to which Clark was elected in November.

Firemen To Participate In Md. Clean-Up Project

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association is cooperating with the Governor's Committee to "Keep Maryland Beautiful," according to Francis Fatkin, president, who said Gov. J. Millard Tawes has designated April as "Keep Maryland Beautiful Month."

Fatkin said the association's participation is being conducted by a committee headed by Cromwell Zembower. The volunteer fire companies affiliated with the two-county unit are being urged to conduct individual community clean-up campaigns, Zembower said.

The chairman explained that litter is recognized as a definite fire hazard, and that fire destroys all beauty. In asking residents of the Allegany-Garrett area to cooperate with the campaign, Zembower said, "It is our job to put out the fires, and the public's to keep fires from starting."

He urged that residents clean up litter inside and outside the house. Careless storage of oily rags, old paint cans and discarded clothing can lead to needless fires, it was pointed out.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Hand Is Graceful Only If It Is Relaxed

Watching your hands will teach you a lot about them. Be a careful observer now, while you hold your hands out before you with the fingers stretched out straight, first palm up and palms down. Next, relax the fingers, then turn your hands over and drop them lightly from your curved wrists. Look at the side view of your hands. Finally, let the palms turn toward you as you drop your hands to rest on your lap.

These observations of your hands in various positions should make several points very clear—that a stiff hand position is not only awkward but somehow forbidding — that only a relaxed hand is graceful — and that the best view of your hands is from the side.

Remember how you felt about how your stiffened fingers looked, the next time you're involved in a handshake. Don't make it a rigid forward thrust, but offer your hand with the fingers lightly curled and your wrist curved until the exact moment of grasping the hand of another. Both start and follow through with your hand turned sideways, never with the palm either up or down.

Be mindful of the way you pick up things. A glass, for example —never grasp and lift it with your hand in front of the glass and angled stiffly back from the wrist, but with your hand behind the glass and your fingers curling lightly around it.

Let that light dropping of your relaxed hands into your lap become a habit — it makes you look so at ease. And be especially conscious of everything your hands do for a few weeks—weed out awkward gestures and poses and train them in the ways of grace.

Gas Company Plans Contest

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is making plans to hold a "Mrs. America" contest among Allegany County homemakers to select contestants for the state title.

Contestants will vie in kitchen skills and home management in seeking various prizes and the chance to be the state winner competing in the national finals in Florida next June.

The state winner and her husband will receive a two-week all expense trip to Florida to compete in the finals.

A preliminary meeting was held at the C&A office a few days ago to get the program under way.

Camper Club To Meet

The Allegany Camper Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Allegany High School, according to John Yoder, president, who said all board members are to attend since important business will be transacted.

LaVale Zoning Board Has Busy First Year

A total of 33 permits have been handled by the LaVale Zoning Board since the enactment of zoning laws for that community May 1, 1958, the board informed the LaVale Civic Improvement Association at a meeting Monday night.

Twenty permits for residences were issued and several are in the stage of being processed.

Four garage applications were approved, and one each of the following: Addition to a residence, fruit market, post office, office building, gas station, one sign, a pumping station building for the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

One occupancy permit was denied by the board, but the decision was appealed and overruled in Allegany County Circuit Court. This case has been taken to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

There was also one permit for a non-conforming use issued.

The board noted that it is checking the building permits issued by the Allegany Assessing Department and comparing that list with the ones granted in LaVale.

A few violations have been noted and these persons will be summoned to confer with the board.

The law setting up the zoning ordinance provides that a penalty of fines up to $250 may be assessed those builders or erectors of signs in LaVale who do not get permits.

Permits, the board told the association, are also required of trailers locating in the community.

The zoning body also stated in its first annual report that all zoning applications and business will be transacted in the LaVale Fire Hall on the second Thursday of each month. Today the board holds its only meeting of the month at 7 p.m. in the basement of the fire hall.

The civic improvement association, which sponsored zoning for LaVale, a fast growing section, was also informed that the Board of Allegany County Commissioners will act soon on filling a vacancy on the board.

That has existed since the resignation of Leslie J. Clark who was named county attorney in December.

The board's two members are C. A. Lancaster, chairman, and Theodore P. Foote, secretary. The appointee will serve the remainder of the six-year term to which Clark was elected in November.

Secrets Of Charm

A Hand Is Graceful Only If It Is Relaxed

Watching your hands will teach you a lot about them. Be a careful observer now, while you hold your hands out before you with the fingers stretched out straight, first palm up and palms down. Next, relax the fingers, then turn your hands over and drop them lightly from your curved wrists. Look at the side view of your hands. Finally, let the palms turn toward you as you drop your hands to rest on your lap.

These observations of your hands in various positions should make several points very clear—that a stiff hand position is not only awkward but somehow forbidding — that only a relaxed hand is graceful — and that the best view of your hands is from the side.

Remember how you felt about how your stiffened fingers looked, the next time you're involved in a handshake. Don't make it a rigid forward thrust, but offer your hand with the fingers lightly curled and your wrist curved until the exact moment of grasping the hand of another. Both start and follow through with your hand turned sideways, never with the palm either up or down.

Be mindful of the way you pick up things. A glass, for example—never grasp and lift it with your hand in front of the glass and angled stiffly back from the wrist, but with your hand behind the glass and your fingers curling lightly around it.

Let that light dropping of your relaxed hands into your lap become a habit — it makes you look so at ease. And be especially conscious of everything your hands do for a few weeks—weed out awkward gestures and poses and train them in the ways of grace.

Firemen To Participate In Md. Clean-Up Project

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association is cooperating with the Governor's Committee to "Keep Maryland Beautiful," according to Francis Fatkin, president, who said Gov. J. Millard Tawes has designated April as "Keep Maryland Beautiful Month."

Fatkin said the association's participation is being conducted by a committee headed by Cromwell Zembower. The volunteer fire companies affiliated with the two-county unit are being urged to conduct individual community clean-up campaigns, Zembower said.

The chairman explained that litter is recognized as a definite fire hazard, and that fire destroys all beauty. In asking residents of the Allegany-Garrett area to cooperate with the campaign, Zembower said, "It is our job to put out the fires, and the public's to keep fires from starting."

He urged that residents clean up litter inside and outside the house. Careless storage of oily rags, old paint cans and discarded clothing can lead to needless fires, it was pointed out.

In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, Olive E. Ambrose, who passed away 2 years ago today, April 9, 1957, and our dear dad, Harry W. Ambrose, who passed away 10 years ago May 2, 1949.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear mother, Olive E. Ambrose, who passed away 2 years ago today, April 9, 1957, and our dear dad, Harry W. Ambrose, who passed away 10 years ago May 2, 1949.
What would we give if we could say,
"Hello, Mom and Dad," in the same old way.
Sadly missed by your LOVING FAMILY.

Market Loses Ground Despite Favorable News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks turned weak toward the close despite a raft of favorable earnings forecasts and a 50 per cent hike in the Ford dividend.

Ford closed at 61, off ¾ after touching a new 1959 high of 62⅝ earlier in the day. The decline was attributed to trader selling "on the news"—a rather common practice after something expected materializes.

All sections of the popular Dow-Jones averages closed lower. Industrials fell 3.90 to 606.44; rails were off 0.09 to 162.53; utilities off 0.05 to 93.64 and the 65 stocks off 0.86 to 209.61.

Sales rose to 3,260,000 shares from 3,020,000 Tuesday.

Oils were generally mixed. Gulf and Texaco were soft in the internationals. Jersey Standard lost a minor fraction despite a report that it sold more than 1 billion barrels of oil last year.

Some of the recent favorites in the electronics group had sharp losses. Zenith gave up 6, while General Time was off 5⅛. Emerson and Texas instruments each had losses of about 2.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	3 ♥	Pass	4 NT.
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♦.

Declarer almost fell victim to his partner's rose colored bidding today but careful dummy play combined with a favorable lay of the cards enabled him to bring the hand home.

South's three heart bid is not justified by the holding, for such a call even when not vulnerable should be based upon a hand which rates to take about six tricks. His hand merited a jump overcall to two hearts which is also a preemptive bid.

North's action is disapproved on two grounds. Inasmuch as South has announced a hand containing strictly preemptive values, thoughts of slam should not be seriously entertained. Furthermore, the Blackwood call is not calculated to help North solve anything. If South has an ace there is no assurance that hearts are solid, and then surely declarer will be subject to the loss of at least one diamond trick. There is the further consideration that a contract of five hearts is by no means safe.

West opened the seven of diamonds. East took the queen with the ace and returned the jack of the suit which declarer won with dummy's king. At a quick glance it appears that declarer's one hope rests with finding the singleton or doubleton queen of hearts with East so that only one trump trick need be yielded. This was unlikely from the bidding and had declarer proceeded on that basis, the hand would have been set, for East would rise with the ace of trumps and give his partner a diamond ruff.

South considered it a better plan to dispose of the diamond in his hand. Te therefore cashed two rounds of clubs. The third one was ruffed by East with the queen of hearts and declarer over-ruffed. A spade to the ace then put dummy in to lead another club. East ruffed with the ace and South discarded his last diamond. On the diamond return, South was now able to ruff high and draw West's trumps, bringing home his contract.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed irregular Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat was off ⅝ to up ⅛; corn unchanged to off ½; oats unchanged to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ¼; rye off ¾ to up 1; soybeans off ¼ to up ½.

Easy spots included May wheat and rye. Latter rye futures contracts, however, reached new seasonal highs. May wheat was heavy from commission houses, and the price was down ⅝ cent from Tuesday's close. At one point it was off a cent. Other months were steady on reports of good moisture in the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma. No moisture relief was shown in the northwest. Export sales were reported.

Corn fell off after a firm start. It closed easy after dipping to weak, shortly after mid-day. Corn was helped by commercial buying, and reports of export business. Receipts were light and the cash basis steady. Acceptances on subsidy bids totaled 1,700,000 bushels.

The oats trade was mixed, with cash houses buying May contracts. Northwest interests sold new September, which was bought by local traders. All subsidy bids were rejected.

Rye was firm, with only the May weak. Soybeans were uneven, with firmness in the May. Export houses were reported buying May and September. Oils were higher. The range:

Market Loses Ground Despite Favorable News

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks turned weak toward the close despite a raft of favorable earnings forecasts and a 50 per cent hike in the Ford dividend.

Ford closed at 61, off ¾ after touching a new 1959 high of 62⅝ earlier in the day. The decline was attributed to trader selling "on the news"—a rather common practice after something expected materializes.

The only reason brokers could find for the general market decline was general profit taking and perhaps some nervousness stemming from the host of statements about the need for caution these days.

All sections of the popular Dow-Jones averages closed lower. Industrials fell 3.90 to 606.44; rails were off 0.09 to 162.53; utilities off 0.05 to 93.64 and the 65 stocks off 0.86 to 209.61.

Sales rose to 3,260,000 shares from 3,020,000 Tuesday.

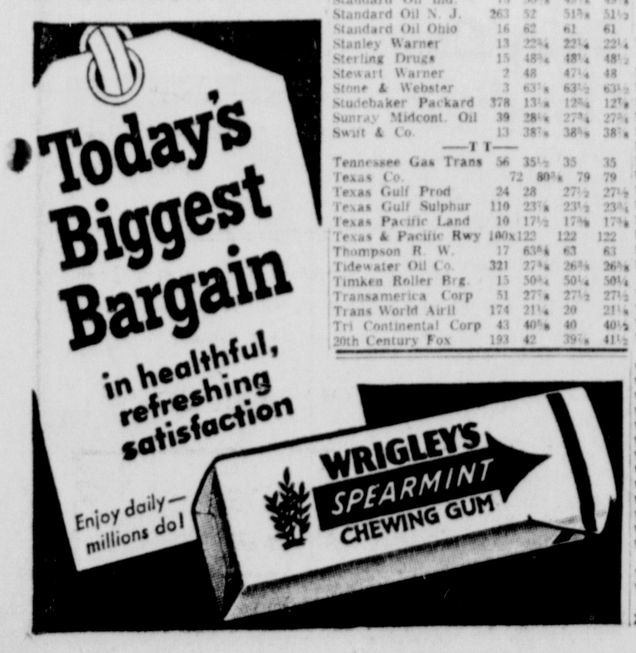

Oils were generally mixed. Gulf and Texaco were soft in the internationals. Jersey Standard lost a minor fraction despite a report that it sold more than 1 billion barrels of oil last year.

Some of the recent favorites in the electronics group had sharp losses. Zenith gave up 6, while General Time was off 5⅛. Emerson and Texas instruments each had losses of about 2.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	3 ♥	Pass	4 NT.
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♦.

Declarer almost fell victim to his partner's rose colored bidding today but careful dummy play combined with a favorable lay of the cards enabled him to bring the hand home.

South's three heart bid is not justified by the holding, for such a call even when not vulnerable should be based upon a hand which rates to take about six tricks. His hand merited a jump overcall to two hearts which is also a preemptive bid.

North's action is disapproved on two grounds. Inasmuch as South has announced a hand containing strictly preemptive values, thoughts of slam should not be seriously entertained. Furthermore, the Blackwood call is not calculated to help North solve anything. If South has an ace there is no assurance that hearts are solid, and then surely declarer will be subject to the loss of at least one diamond trick. There is the further consideration that a contract of five hearts is by no means safe.

West opened the seven of diamonds. East took the queen with the ace and returned the jack of the suit which declarer won with dummy's king. At a quick glance it appears that declarer's one hope rests with finding the singleton or doubleton queen of hearts with East so that only one trump trick need be yielded. This was unlikely from the bidding and had declarer proceeded on that basis, the hand would have been set, for East would rise with the ace of trumps and give his partner a diamond ruff.

South considered it a better plan to dispose of the diamond in his hand. Te therefore cashed two rounds of clubs. The third one was ruffed by East with the queen of hearts and declarer over-ruffed. A spade to the ace then put dummy in to lead another club. East ruffed with the ace and South discarded his last diamond. On the diamond return, South was now able to ruff high and draw West's trumps, bringing home his contract.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain futures prices closed irregular Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat was off ⅝ to up ¼; corn unchanged to off ½; oats unchanged to up ⅜; new oats unchanged to up ¼; rye off ⅝ to up 1; soybeans off ¼ to up ½.

Easy spots included May wheat and rye. Latter rye futures contracts, however, reached new seasonal highs. May wheat was heavy from commission houses, and the price was down ⅝ cent from Tuesday's close. At one point it was off a cent. Other months were steady on reports of good moisture in the Texas Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma. No moisture relief was shown in the northwest. Export sales were reported.

Corn fell off after a firm start. It closed easy after dipping to weak, shortly after mid-day. Corn was helped by commercial buying, and reports of export business. Receipts were light and the cash basis steady. Acceptances on subsidy bids totaled 1,700,000 bushels.

The oats trade was mixed, with cash houses buying May contracts. Northwest interests sold new September, which was bought by local traders. All subsidy bids were rejected.

Rye was firm, with only the May weak. Soybeans were uneven, with firmness in the May. Export houses were reported buying May and September. Oils were higher. The range:

Water Line Is Built To New Armory

Crews Begin Work On Dorn Avenue Job

Completed, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light, was the installation of a water line to serve the new National Guard Armory.

The eight-inch line was laid from Brown to Van Buren avenues and was built primarily to serve the new armory which is rising in Ridgedale Addition.

But officials said the line wil have capacity to serve the needs of dwellings which might be built in that area.

Begun this week was the Dorn Avenue water line project. It will comprise about 700 feet of six and four-inch line running from the Fort Hill Reservoir to Dorn Avenue.

It is being built to boost water pressure for about a dozen homes which now have low pressure.

Before long, the Water Department crews will resume work on a new water line running from Virginia Avenue to White Oaks Avenue.

Work on the line began last year and was pushed as far as Vancouver Street. It will be taken from there to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company supply line as soon as Thruway grading is completed in that area.

Another Water Department project, the Shades Lane line, was completed late last month. This was a 3,600 foot line running from the intersection of Shades Lane and Oakland Street to just past the city line.

TV Antenna Tower To Go Up April 18

The Cresaptown Community TV Association announced yesterday that work has been started on a translator building and antenna tower on Dans Mountain.

Cecil Metz, secretary, said members attending a meeting Tuesday night at the Beagle Club were told that volunteers began the construction of the building and the base for the antenna tower on Tuesday.

Crews that day drilled holes for anchor bolts and poured concrete to form the base of the 67-foot steel tower which is being shipped from Chicago.

The antenna assembly, Mr. Metz said, will be delivered directly to the site of the UHF unit on Dans Mountain.

Members were informed that the association applied for Channel 7, a second UHF channel, with the Federal Communications Commission on Tuesday.

The application for the first frequency, Channel 5, is being processed by the FCC.

Plans were made to erect the tower on Saturday, April 18. The 180-degree antenna is designed to serve the broad area covered by TV association members.

Cumberlanders Attend Labor Rally In D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 500 Maryland union members attended Wednesday's AFL-CIO rally of unemployed.

Francis S. Filbey, president of the Baltimore Council AFL-CIO Central Labor Union, said 413 were registered from Baltimore. The remainder were from Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Filbey said about half the Maryland delegates were unemployed workers. The largest group, he said, were members of the United Auto Workers Union.

He said sizable groups also were on hand from the maritime unions, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the International Assn. of Machinists.

About six or seven buses came from Baltimore and one each from Hagerstown and Cumberland. Some delegates traveled in automobiles.

Flood Control Work Is In Final Stage

Both Contracts May Be Done This Month

This would be a few days before the project is to be formally accepted by the City of Cumberland at ceremonies May 9 at 11 a.m.

Plans for the formal ceremony, which will bring hundreds of visitors to the city, are being pushed by the Mayor and Council.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said that barring bad weather, both the George F. Hazelwood Company of here and the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago, may complete work by the end of the month.

The Albrecht firm is now completing minor tasks and cleanup jobs on Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the work, and the Hazelwood firm may pour, by the end of next week, the last concrete needed on its Section 4 contract.

The firm this week began revising its coffer dam in the creek bed so it can pour four monoliths in the bottom of the creek.

All but 12 vertical wall sections are up to provide the final 12 feet of flood wall. These are being poured as soon as previous concrete is cured.

The firm must also complete relatively minor jobs of backfilling on both sides of the new wall sections and clean up working areas in Riverside Park.

The most critical work at present is the creek paving, as the contractor could pour the remaining wall sections from outside.

Three prizes will be awarded to the finalists. Mr. O'Rourke said the first prize will be $25, the second prize $10 and the third prize $5.

Each school has been requested by Mr. O'Rourke to submit a list of 50 words to be used in addition to the list which will be used by Miss Carroll.

The parochial schools include St. Patrick's, St. Mary's and SS. Peter and Paul's of Cumberland; St. Patrick's of Mt. Savage; St. Joseph's of Midland; St. Michael's of Frostburg, St. Peter's of Westernport; St. Francis of Keyser and St. Peter's of Oakland.

Judges will be announced the day of the spelling contest, said Mr. O'Rourke.

Park Pool Will Open On May 30

The Constitution Park swimming pool will open on Saturday, May 30, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

The opening will fall on Memorial Day, the traditional time for the opening of the outdoor swimming season.

Mr. Mason said the pool will be opened at noon and remain open Saturday and Sunday and then will be opened only on weekends until school is out, when a daily schedule goes into effect.

He said Robert R. Golden, park superintendent, reported that the pool will be ready for the formal opening, as only a few minor maintenance tasks are to be done.

The filter unit for the pool was completely cleaned and reconditioned last year and is expected to remain in top shape during the 1959 season.

The work on the filters paid off last year, as officials were told the water quality was the best in years.

Company C Is Rated Excellent In Inspection

An over-all rating of "excellent" was received by Company C, First Medium (Patton) Tank Battalion, 29th Division, Maryland National Guard, following a recent annual general inspection.

Captain Eugene M. Light, commanding officer, said the inspection was conducted by Lt. Col. John R. Grindell, I. G. Section, Headquarters Second Army, Fort George G. Meade.

The inspection covered all phases of administration, supply, training and maintenance within the unit. After conducting a line inspection, Col. Grindell observed classroom instruction of the company.

He stated that the "appearance of the men in ranks was worthy of favorable mention." Under a reorganization plan, Company C is converting to conform with training for Armored units.

Captain Light said two new M-48 tanks are being shipped here direct from the factory and will arrive soon. Upon acceptance of the tanks the assigned crews will begin armored training.

Captain Light said a few vacancies exist in the company and there are openings for prior service personnel. Additional details may be secured by visiting the State Armory on South Centre Street during the Wednesday night drill period.

Sheriff Cites Need For New County Jail

Terms Plumbing, Heating Inadequate

Allegany County Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein yesterday voiced the need for a new county jail in view of "obsolete plumbing" and "an inadequate heating plant," in the present building, constructed about 80 years ago.

The April grand jury, in its report this week, said the jail is "not suitable or acceptable for human incarceration."

Sheriff Haberlein said that at the present time three cells on the first floor are not fit for use due to plumbing conditions. A fourth cell on that floor, also with poor plumbing, is being used "in a pinch" because of the jail's present population.

Getting Too Crowded

If as many male prisoners are committed to the jail during the next week as in the past week, the women's quarters on the fourth floor, now unoccupied, will have to be put to use, said the sheriff.

As of yesterday, 34 male prisoners were being held in the county jail. A normal number of prisoners is 30 with all cells available. The sheriff said a "federal" tier, normally used for federal transient prisoners, is being occupied by county prisoners.

Trustees are using another section of the jail, separate from the other prisoners, so they may have access to an alarm used in the event of an emergency.

New lavatories and toilets are needed at the jail, according to the sheriff, who also said the heating plant is inadequate.

Sheriff Haberlein said that since he took office, he has been getting cooperation "100 per cent" from the County Board of Commissioners. They, too, are in full agreement with the recommendations of the grand jurors. (See story on page 7).

Could Be Rebuilt

Sheriff Haberlein, who is having living quarters renovated at the jail, feels that a new two-story jail could be constructed on the site of the present lockup.

Additional frontage could possibly be acquired for the new building, which should provide a wing for juveniles. At the present time they are being taken to the detention quarters at the County Infirmary by city police.

In the past the juveniles have destroyed property and caused disturbances at the infirmary and at times have frightened the elderly patients. The sheriff also pointed out that there is no special supervisory personnel at the detention quarters to watch over the juveniles.

County Student Seeks Health Scholarship

One Allegany County student is listed among the applicants for 1959 health scholarships being granted by the National Polio Foundation.

With less than a month remaining before the May 1 deadline for filing applications, only 22 Maryland students have applied for the scholarships in nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, medicine and medical-social work.

Edward L. Fike, state representative, said all applications for the four-year financial assistance, amounting to $2,000 per student, must be received by the National Foundation in New York by May 1.

The scholarships are granted high school seniors and upper classmen in college.

Fire Damages Bedroom Here

Fire yesterday caused considerable damage to the downstairs bedroom of the home of Water Commissioner G. Ray Light at 422 Arch Street.

South End Fire Company, which was called to the blaze at 12:59 p. m., said the fire apparently started from a short circuit in a wall switch.

Firemen had to use masks because of the dense smoke but had the blaze under control within 18 minutes.

At the same time this fire broke out, Central Fire Company was called to the home of Joseph Leighty, 878 Maryland Avenue. Firemen said the home was filled with smoke from a furnace in which paper was being burned.

Central was called to the home of James Sathoff, 220 Hay Street, at 11:05 a. m. They said paper was being burned in the back yard.

A five-part concert will be presented at Fort Hill at 8 p. m. Friday.

It will begin with four selections by members of the All-Maryland Chorus, which sang last October at the annual teachers convention. The choir will follow to the auditorium stage and will sing four numbers. They will include "Gloria In Excelsis" by Jolley, with Annetta Yates as conductor; "A Phantom of Delight" by Wilson, with Mary Robb conducting; "The Dream of Olwen" by Williams, with Harold Hanson conducting, and "Elijah Rock" arranged by Hairston with Doris Mitchell as conductor.

Three selections by the girls chorus will follow. They will sing "It's Spring" by Boland, Dr. Gamble conducting; "Into The Night" by Edwards, Carole Reith conducting, and "Little David Play On Your Harp" arranged by Cain, with Margary Chambers conducting.

Schools' Participation

For the final three selections, the massed choruses will sing. They will offer "He, Watching Over Israel" by Mendelssohn, Dorothy Willison conducting; "My Fair Lady" by Loewe, Monroe Harris conducting, and "America The Beautiful" by Ward, with Joseph Derry conducting.

Tawes Signs 154 New Bills, 10 Resolutions

Court, Fisheries Measures Included

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes signed into law Wednesday 154 bills enacted by the 1959 Maryland Legislature, including measures to revamp the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and Baltimore's traffic and magistrate's courts.

The governor affixed his signature to these and to 10 resolutions during a relaxed, sometimes hilarious 90-minute ceremony in his downtown Baltimore office suite.

It was the biggest bill-signing session since Tawes took office Jan. 14, but only a handful of the legislation converted into law deals with statewide problems.

Other Measures

Besides the fisheries and court measures, this included an act setting up a referendum on whether counties and city governments should be allowed to participate in federally aided urban renewal programs.

Another makes it a misdemeanor to defraud the telephone company for its services.

Another increases the State Funeral Directors Board membership from seven to nine and shifts numerical control of the board from Baltimore to the counties by giving them five seats, compared with three on the existing board.

One of two bills added to the signing list at the last moment authorizes a state loan of $750,000 toward construction of a 1½-million-dollar science building at Loyola College in Baltimore.

Important Studies

Two of the more important resolutions among the 10 signed call for studies. One sets up a survey of the trial magistrate system throughout Maryland. The other provides for a study of possible reapportionment of local kickbacks on the state gasoline and motor vehicle registration taxes.

The gas and registration revenues are now split on the basis of 50 per cent to the state, 30 per cent to Baltimore City and 20 per cent to the counties.

Most of the other bills dealt with such matters as raising the salary of the St. Marys County dog catcher, requiring annual licenses for Worcester County juke boxes, and abolishing the job of the Frederick County liquor inspector.

Jeers And Cheers

Capt. Menasha Katz, State Police officer whose activities at these sessions have become legendary, lightened Wednesday's proceedings when he tried to photograph Tawes and other dignitaries at the bill-signing table.

Standing on a chair next to a window and occasionally glancing at the street 18 stories below, he held up the proceedings for several minutes as he unsuccessfully tried three flashbulbs before giving up in despair.

Moments later he tried a fourth, and when it worked the derisive laughter of 30-odd officials and spectators turned to cheers.

About a third of the way through the bill signing, the governor paused for an explanation of a bill briefing prepared for him by Lloyd L. Simpkins, his fun-loving executive secretary.

The bill, said the briefing, allows Howard County's commissioners to borrow "half a million hogs for educational purposes."

"Dollars," explained Simpkins.

"Oh," said the governor and he signed the bill.

'Lady,' Pinto Dairy Cow, Top Butterfat Producer

Lady, a registered Holstein, was the top butterfat producer during March in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings are the owners of the second top producer, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, DHIA supervisors. Their cow, No. 61 (artificial) grade Holstein, produced 100 pounds of butterfat from 2,700 pounds of milk.

No. 3734278, an artificial registered Holstein owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown, placed third in the monthly rating. The cow produced 89 pounds of butterfat from 2,060 pounds of milk.

Other top producers in the first ten include cows owned by Lloyd Nave of Bedford Valley, Pa., Samuel L. Pinto, of Ridgeley, and C. O. and Elizabeth Miller of Midland.

The total number of cows on test during March was 1,011 and the average production of all cows was 784 pounds of milk, 32.6 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.16 per cent.

The high herd for the month belongs to Ernest A. Light of Pinto. He had 20 cows on test and the average production was 1,024 pounds of milk, 45.8 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.46 per cent.

Educators Discuss Aid To School Bill

Meeting Tonight With Delegation

Representatives of the Allegany County Board of Education, the Allegany County Teachers Association and the County Council of Parents and Teachers met last night to discuss the teacher pay and school fund program.

Miss Mary E. Murray, teacher association president, and Homer Higgins, chairman of the teachers' legislative committee, led the discussion and outlined the history of Gov. Tawes' teacher pay and school aid bill, which was amended by the House of Delegates. The State Senate, after passing the Tawes bill, rejected the House bill.

The group agreed with the State Board of Education, the State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress PTA that every effort should be made to urge the governor to recall the General Assembly to consider the school aid measure and to prepare such tax program to meet it as will be feasible.

Members of the Allegany County delegation were contacted by telephone and several of them agreed to attend a session tonight at the Board of Education building to discuss the situation.

The group also decided to send a delegation to the County Commissioners Friday morning, to urge them also to ask the governor to recall the legislators, since Allegany County would receive considerable state aid toward the cost of operating schools.

Tonight's meeting with the legislators will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Air Pollution Expert To Speak To Health Board

Dr. William F. Reindollar, chief of the Division of Industrial Health and Air Pollution of the State Health Department, will be the principal speaker at the May 4 meeting of the City Health Board.

He will discuss air pollution at the meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said Miss Jean M. Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany - Garrett Tuberculosis Association will be invited to sit in on the meeting.

It is expected that the discussion will deal with the possibility of an air pollution monitoring station here as part of a long-range study of air pollution in Maryland.

Dr. van Strien said Dr. Ralph Ballin, medical member of the board, has expressed great interest in air pollution programs of the city.

He said the study would also indicate the effectiveness of the city's air pollution ordinance. For a number of years, the city maintained an Air Pollution Department. It was dropped several years ago due to reduced pollution as railroads switched to Diesel power and gas replaced hundreds of coal fired furnaces — and the need to reduce city operating expenses.

The Recreation Department reported that 1,699 persons participated in 36 activities held during March.

Water Line Is Built To New Armory

Crews Begin Work On Dorn Avenue Job

The Water Department completed one line project this week and started work on another.

Completed, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light, was the installation of a water line to serve the new National Guard Armory.

The eight-inch line was laid from Brown to Van Buren avenues and was built primarily to serve the new armory which is rising in Ridgedale Addition.

But officials said the line wil have capacity to serve the needs of dwellings which might be built in that area.

Begun this week was the Dorn Avenue water line project. It will comprise about 700 feet of six and four-inch line running from the Fort Hill Reservoir to Dorn Avenue.

It is being built to boost water pressure for about a dozen homes which now have low pressure.

The line will tap the water tank line instead of the reservoir, source of the present supply.

Work on the line began last year and was pushed as far as Vancouver Street. It will be taken from there to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company supply line as soon as Thruway grading is completed in that area.

Another Water Department project, the Shades Lane line, was completed late last month. This was a 3,600 foot line running from the intersection of Shades Lane and Oakland Street to just past the city line.

TV Antenna Tower To Go Up April 18

The Cresaptown Community TV Association announced yesterday that work has been started on a translator building and antenna tower on Dans Mountain.

Cecil Metz, secretary, said members attending a meeting Tuesday night at the Beagle Club were told that volunteers began the construction of the building and the base for the antenna tower on Tuesday.

Crews that day drilled holes for anchor bolts and poured concrete to form the base of the 67-foot steel tower which is being shipped from Chicago.

The antenna assembly, Mr. Metz said, will be delivered directly to the site of the UHF unit on Dans Mountain.

Members were informed that the association applied for Channel 7, a second UHF channel, with the Federal Communications Commission on Tuesday.

The application for the first frequency, Channel 5, is being processed by the FCC.

Plans were made to erect the tower on Saturday, April 18. The 180-degree antenna is designed to serve the broad area covered by TV association members.

Cumberlanders Attend Labor Rally In D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 500 Maryland union members attended Wednesday's AFL-CIO rally of unemployed.

Francis S. Filbey, president of the Baltimore Council AFL-CIO Central Labor Union, said 413 were registered from Baltimore. The remainder were from Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Filbey said about half the Maryland delegates were unemployed workers. The largest group, he said, were members of the United Auto Workers Union.

Flood Control Work Is In Final Stage

Both Contracts May Be Done This Month

Work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project may be completed by the end of April.

This would be a few days before the project is to be formally accepted by the City of Cumberland at ceremonies May 9 at 11 a.m.

Plans for the formal ceremony, which will bring hundreds of visitors to the city, are being pushed by the Mayor and Council.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said that barring bad weather, both the George F. Hazelwood Company of here and the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago, may complete work by the end of the month.

The Albrecht firm is now completing minor tasks and cleanup jobs on Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek phase of the work, and the Hazelwood firm may pour, by the end of next week, the last concrete needed on its Section 4 contract.

The firm this week began revising its coffer dam in the creek bed so it can pour four monoliths in the bottom of the creek.

All but 12 vertical wall sections are up to provide the final 12 feet of flood wall. These are being poured as soon as previous concrete is cured.

The firm must also complete relatively minor jobs of backfilling on both sides of the new wall sections and clean up working areas in Riverside Park.

The most critical work at present is the creek paving, as the contractor could pour the remaining wall sections from outside.

Tawes Signs 154 New Bills, 10 Resolutions

Court, Fisheries Measures Included

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes signed into law Wednesday 154 bills enacted by the 1959 Maryland Legislature, including measures to revamp the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and Baltimore's traffic and magistrate's courts.

The governor affixed his signature to these and to 10 resolutions during a relaxed, sometimes hilarious 90-minute ceremony in his downtown Baltimore office suite.

It was the biggest bill-signing session since Tawes took office Jan. 14, but only a handful of the legislation converted into law deals with statewide problems.

Other Measures

Besides the fisheries and court measures, this included an act setting up a referendum on whether counties and city governments should be allowed to participate in federally aided urban renewal programs.

Another makes it a misdemeanor to defraud the telephone company for its services.

Another increases the State Funeral Directors Board membership from seven to nine and shifts numerical control of the board from Baltimore to the counties by giving them five seats, compared with three on the existing board.

One of two bills added to the signing list at the last moment authorizes a state loan of $750,000 toward construction of a 1½-million-dollar science building at Loyola College in Baltimore.

Important Studies

Two of the more important resolutions among the 10 signed call for studies. One sets up a survey of the trial magistrate system throughout Maryland. The other provides for a study of possible reapportionment of local kickbacks on the state gasoline and motor vehicle registration taxes.

The gas and registration revenues are now split on the basis of 50 per cent to the state, 30 per cent to Baltimore City and 20 per cent to the counties.

Most of the other bills dealt with such matters as raising the salary of the St. Marys County dog catcher, requiring annual licenses for Worcester County juke boxes, and abolishing the job of the Frederick County liquor inspector.

Jeers And Cheers

Capt. Menasha Katz, State Police officer whose activities at these sessions have become legendary, lightened Wednesday's proceedings when he tried to photograph Tawes and other dignitaries at the bill-signing table.

Standing on a chair next to a window and occasionally glancing at the street 18 stories below, he held up the proceedings for several minutes as he unsuccessfully tried three flashbulbs before giving up in despair.

Moments later he tried a fourth, and when it worked the derisive laughter of 30-odd officials and spectators turned to cheers.

About a third of the way through the bill signing, the governor paused for an explanation of a bill briefing prepared for him by Lloyd L. Simpkins, his fun-loving executive secretary.

The bill, said the briefing, allows Howard County's commissioners to borrow "half a million hogs for educational purposes."

"Dollars," explained Simpkins.

"Oh," said the governor and he signed the bill.

'Lady,' Pinto Dairy Cow, Top Butterfat Producer

Lady, a registered Holstein, was the top butterfat producer during March in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

The cow, which produced 104 pounds of butterfat from 2,590 pounds of milk, is the property of I. L. Brooke and Sons of Pinto.

Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings are the owners of the second top producer, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, DHIA supervisors. Their cow, No. 61 (artificial) grade Holstein, produced 100 pounds of butterfat from 2,700 pounds of milk.

No. 3734278, an artificial registered Holstein owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown, placed third in the monthly rating. The cow produced 89 pounds of butterfat from 2,060 pounds of milk.

Other top producers in the first ten include cows owned by Lloyd Nave of Bedford Valley, Pa., Samuel L. Pinto, of Ridgeley, and C. O. and Elizabeth Miller of Midland.

The total number of cows on test during March was 1,011 and the average production of all cows was 784 pounds of milk, 32.6 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.16 per cent.

The high herd for the month belongs to Ernest A. Light of Pinto. He had 20 cows on test and the average production was 1,024 pounds of milk, 45.8 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.46 per cent.

Educators Discuss Aid To School Bill

Meeting Tonight With Delegation

Representatives of the Allegany County Board of Education, the Allegany County Teachers Association and the County Council of Parents and Teachers met last night to discuss the teacher pay and school fund program.

Miss Mary E. Murray, teacher association president, and Homer Higgins, chairman of the teachers' legislative committee, led the discussion and outlined the history of Gov. Tawes' teacher pay and school aid bill, which was amended by the House of Delegates. The State Senate, after passing the Tawes bill, rejected the House bill.

The group agreed with the State Board of Education, the State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress PTA that every effort should be made to urge the governor to recall the General Assembly to consider the school aid measure and to prepare such tax program to meet it as will be feasible.

Members of the Allegany County delegation were contacted by telephone and several of them agreed to attend a session tonight at the Board of Education building to discuss the situation.

The group also decided to send a delegation to the County Commissioners Friday morning, to urge them also to ask the governor to recall the legislators, since Allegany County would receive considerable state aid toward the cost of operating schools.

Tonight's meeting with the legislators will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Air Pollution Expert To Speak To Health Board

Dr. William F. Reindollar, chief of the Division of Industrial Health and Air Pollution of the State Health Department, will be the principal speaker at the May 4 meeting of the City Health Board.

He will discuss air pollution at the meeting scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said Miss Jean M. Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany - Garrett Tuberculosis Association will be invited to sit in on the meeting.

Plans for Dr. Reindollar's visit here were made at a meeting of the health board Monday.

It is expected that the discussion will deal with the possibility of an air pollution monitoring station here as part of a long-range study of air pollution in Maryland.

Dr. van Strien said Dr. Ralph Ballin, medical member of the board, has expressed great interest in air pollution programs of the city.

Such a monitoring station, the health officer said, might also serve to measure radioactive fallout in Western Maryland.

He said the study would also indicate the effectiveness of the city's air pollution ordinance. For a number of years, the city maintained an Air Pollution Department. It was dropped several years ago due to reduced pollution as railroads switched to Diesel power and gas replaced hundreds of coal fired furnaces — and the need to reduce city operating expenses.
